Modest attendance, one close race in Wilmington elections Caira, Bendel take Selectmen race; Alefantis joins Housing Authority

belynda@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON - What started out as a dreary election day perked up a bit once the sun came out Saturday afternoon. The same could not be said for poll numbers; a mere 13 percent of eligible voters turned out to cast their ballots for two Board of Selectman seats, three uncontested School Committee seats, and a surprisingly tight write-in contest for Housing Authority.

As of midday, election workers had reported the turnout as "slow but steady," attributing the pace to everything from the weather to the many youth sports events going on in town.

Despite the pace, a healthy contingent of supporters turned out to encourage voters pulling into the three polling places. Most residents and candidates shared similar hopes for the town—to continue the work of past officials in keeping Wilmington an affordable and enjoyable place to call home.

The uncontested School Committee race brought a new face to the Board, joining incumbent candidates Peggy Kane and Julie Broussard. Despite the uncontested race, the ballot's top candidate Broussard was on hand during the election results to talk about the plan for Wilmington schools going into the new term. She praised the success of the school system and the contributions of Wilmington Public Schools superintendent Mary DeLai, and was enthusiastic to carry that success forward. "I always describe Wilmington education as the big ship that needs a little help turning," she said during the election results coverage. "We've gained some wonderful momentum, and I look forward to working with my colleagues and keeping it going."

The big race of the day was the four-way contest for two Board of Selectmen seats, filling the positions of departing members Louis Cimaglia and Michael Newhouse.

Board of Appeals member Ed Loud turned out to hold a sign and support the candidates. Loud echoed the sentiments of many Wilmington residents in his hopes for the coming term: "Staying the course, keeping things very conservative." While Loud shared his fellow citizens' concerns on the tax rate in Wilmington, he espoused a balanced perspective on the product of those taxes, "I think with the trash pickup that we don't have to pay extra for... students don't

WILMINGTON- Some of Wilmington's finest young athletes were honored at Monday's Board of Selectmen meeting. The Pee

Wee 1 and Bantam 1 teams, fresh off state tournament victories, received hearty congratulations from the Selectmen and Town Manager Jeffery Hull.

"Thank you all for taking the time to be here," Judith

O'Connell said to the assemblage of players, parents, and coaches. "You've brought a lot of pride to our town. You look fantastic in your jerseys and your championship hats."

The Pee Wees assembled in their uniforms and wearing their championship hats, which they only doffed in deference to the Pledge of Allegiance at the top of the meeting.

"Enjoy this," O'Connell said. "This is what you strive for. Obviously you know what it takes to be a hockey player. It is a passion in and of itself, and it brings people together like no other sport, quite frankly...These

Just a few finishing touches...

Construction on the Wilmington Dog Park is almost complete. Tree branches trimmed off, lots of black chain link, most of the young pines have been eradicated, sand has been trucked in and a double-gated entry completed.

HSA'S AND MEDICARE

Health savings accounts have been a nice accompaniment to high-deductible health insurance programs. These accounts are designed to help policyholders pay out-of-pocket expenses but, given relatively good health, they can grow impressively. Used for medical expenses, withdrawals are tax-free.

What happens at retirement and Medicare coverage? You can't make any more contributions to your HSA, but there are no required distributions from the account, either.

It makes most sense to continue to use the HSA funds for medical expenses. You can even use the money to pay for Medicare insurance premiums, though not for Medigap. You can also use HSA funds to reimburse yourself for qualified medical expenses that you incurred earlier but did not pay for from the HSA. After 65, you can use HSA funds for other expenses without penalty, but the withdrawals will be taxable.

A beautiful day in the neighborhood

TARPON SPRINGS, FL - The 24th annual Wilmington / Tarpon Reunion brought friends from North, South, East and West of the sunshine state. There were 35 happy faces in attendance. We extend our gratitude to Mike Rosa and Nita Kim for their generosity in donating, cooling and serving us sausages, peppers, and onions with all the fixings. The "frosting on the cake" was the delicious desserts.

The permit for our next event, March 11th 2017, has already been purchased.

All you Wilmington folks who are not snowbirds, consider making Florida your "vacation destination" to spend the day with fellow Wilmingtonites for our 25th reunion. You don't need silver hair to join us!

Those in attendance: Denise (LaRivee) Pivarnik, Frank and Jean DePiano, Jean (Cariglio) Abraham, Mike Rosa and Anita Kim, Jim and Paula Nigrelli, Lloyd and Patty Park, Irving Belbin, "Bozo" and Maureen McHugh, Ted and eth Wicks, Jenni (Wicks) Lamb, Chris (Maloney) Doukas, Donald and Joyce Blake, Bud and Donna Stanley, Tom Mackenzie, Cheryl Peters, Rosetta Jastren, Rita Ayer and Rick, Windy Vander Sloot, Lisa Mansfield, Dianne Lampp, Susan Park, Nancy and Jack Gossage, Rosemarie (Enos) Morgan, Rock and Lele Justice. Shawsheen Tech Superintendent Broadrick stays on course in first six months

By BRENDAN FOLEY
News Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com
BELLERICA- When Tim Broadrick assumed the role of Shawsheen Tech Superintendent-Director in the fall, he practiced a policy of careful, methodical consideration before any action taken with regards to the school and facility.

Just over six months into the job, he has not wavered from that approach.

"My job is to make sure that the facility is safe and well-maintained and here so that they [the staff and students] can continue doing that work," Broadrick said. "Not for the next two years, for the next twenty."

Even after six months of the nonstop demands and pressures that go with running a school, Broadrick appears to still be as thrilled with the Tech as he was when he first took office.

"It's such a good place," he said. "It's been run so well. I think the most pressure I have felt has been to be careful. To work in the manner that has been established here that works."

The project that has probably the most eyes on the school is the new athletic complex set to begin construction in the immediate future, a project inherited by Broadrick from previous Superintendent-Director Charles Lyons.

While the full three phases of the plan will take years to complete, the first phase will kick off in May and should have major areas complete in time for fall sports.

This first phase includes the construction of a new turf football field, new spectator stands, and rebuilding the new track. While the project will start in May, construction on the football field cannot begin until after graduation on June 9.

Broadrick is optimistic that the project can be completed on schedule and on budget, which will allow the Tech Rams to play games on their brand new field in time for fall football season.

"There are a lot of opportunities for unanticipated expenses, for things to come up, for problems," Broadrick said. "But, Gale Engineering has done a great job and done a very thorough job during the design process. We are cautiously optimistic."

While Gale Engineering was the organization responsible for the initial survey of the current athletic complex and the design for the replacement, the actual construction will be handled by Heimlich Landscape & Construction.

"They have gotten rave reviews from many of the school and municipalities that have used them," Broadrick said, pointing to the company's well-received work building turf fields for Bedford and Burlington schools.

With the athletic complex project approved and rolling forward, Broadrick has also begun developing other projects to investigate and pursue.

One of the core ideas he is eager to explore is developing space in the school's venerable manufacturing wing, creating a pace for "Project Lead the Way" an engineering curriculum that will help develop interrelations between trades.

McCreven named Shawsheen Tech Senior of the Month

Daniel McCreven was recently honored as April's Senior of the Month at Shawsheen Valley Technical High School.

An internet technology student, McCreven is hoping to make a career out of the field. He has aspirations to earn a Master's degree in computer science.

He'll enter college with an impressive resume that includes four years on the high honor roll, a spot in the National Honor Society and work at IBM through Shawsheen's cooperative education program.

His success academically has earned him Citizenships Awards and a John and Abigail Adams Scholarship.

Outside of the classroom, McCreven has been a four-year member of the Rams baseball team and has also played basketball. Additionally, he volunteers his time at the St. William Church in Tewksbury.

McCreven would love to try playing college baseball.

In his spare time, McCreven enjoys personal software development and fishing.

Dr. Campbell meets with Austin Prep students

Students at Austin Preparatory School in Reading had a rare opportunity to meet and ask questions of one of the 2015 recipients of the Nobel Prize in Medicine.

Dr. William Campbell of North Andover gave a modified version of his Nobel lecture to upper school students.

He is a biologist and parasitologist whose research helped discover a treatment for infections cause by roundworms. He helped discover avermectins, a class of drugs that treats River Blindness and other parasitic diseases.

In the late 1980s Dr. Campbell helped persuade his then-employer Merck Research Laboratories to distribute a modified version of the drug called ivermectin without charge wherever it was needed. According to numerous reports, this has hugely helped to combat parasitic diseases in Africa, Latin America and Yemen.

According to the World Health Organization, 98 million people in 31 African countries receive annual treatment through the program. Since 2009 the WHO's focus on River Blindness has shifted from treatment to elimination.

Dr. Campbell received his

Nobel Prize in Stockholm, Sweden in December. He told students the "ceremony" is actually a week long and filled with different formal meetings and ceremonies, where he and his wife met and dined with international dignitaries, and even royalty.

Many students have been studying infectious diseases and their causes in science classes and were somewhat familiar with Dr. Campbell's research. After his presentation, they asked him many questions about his work, moral obligations to treat diseases, and advice on how to become a research scientist.

"Find hard work you find satisfying," he said. "Take every opportunity to get into a lab when you can and do experiments where the answers are still unknown."

Wilmington Recreation Easter Egg Hunt a success

Dear Editor:

On Saturday, March 26, the Wilmington Recreation Department sponsored the 45th Annual Easter Egg Hunt for Wilmington children ages 6 and under. Volunteers and Recreation staff blanketed the Town Common with candy-filled eggs. When the signal sounded, hundreds of children rushed to fill their baskets.

We would like to thank the dedicated volunteers who filled over 7,300 eggs with candy, and the volunteers that came the day of the event to scatter the eggs for eager young children to collect. Thank you to the Wilmington Police Department for providing auxiliary officers to assure safe access to the event. We extend heartfelt thanks to the Easter Bunny who came all the way to Wilmington to welcome children and pose for photos.

The success of an event of this size requires the support of residents and organizations within town. Thank you to everyone who helped to make this event a memorable one.

Sincerely yours,
Deborah Cipriani
Recreation Director

Broussard says thank you

Dear Editor:

To the voters of Wilmington, thank you for your votes and for putting your trust in me for another three years. Even though my seat on School Committee was uncontested, I don't take any vote for granted. To family and friends that offer so much support so that I can serve, thank you. I couldn't do it without you!

My congratulations to Peggy Kane on her re-election. I look forward to continue working with you. Welcome to the team, Tom Talbot! Congratulations also to newly elected Selectmen Greg Bendel and Kevin Caira. I'm honored to work with you.

Proud to live in Wilmington,
Julie Broussard

Carroll thanks supporters

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank my supporters of Wilmington who gave me all their support, courage and gratitude in the past six years while I served on the Wilmington School Committee.

I enjoyed being a part of the school department and watching all the children get awards, scholarships, and there diplomas.

I would like to thank the Wilmington School Staff for all there hard work and dedication that they all put in.

Sincerely,
Kathleen Carroll

Kane thanks voters, others

Dear Editor:

This weekend marked yet another opportunity for the voters of Wilmington to exercise their democratic rights.

Congratulations to Robert Peterson for the Shawshen Tech School Committee, Kevin Caira and Greg Bendel, our next Selectmen, and my fellow School Committee members, Julie Broussard and Thomas Talbot.

As for myself, people in this town are wonderful. You truly care about our children. I can't thank you enough for your support of me over the years that I have had the privilege to serve on our School Committee. I assure you that during these next three years, I will continue to work to bring the strongest staff, curriculum and educational programs to our community.

Working together, we can succeed in providing our children with the bright futures that they deserve. I look forward to representing you and working with the various boards.

Thank you to WCTV, the Wilmington Apple and the Town Crier for enabling the town get to know the candidates.

I truly appreciate the Wilmington process and Wilmington voters.

Thank you,
Peggy Kane

Save this 286-year-old House in Tewksbury

Dear Editor:

The Tewksbury Historical Society has a mission that spans three purposes. One is preservation of artifacts and buildings that reflect Tewksbury history, the second is to educate the public about Tewksbury history and the third is to research Tewksbury history.

The Tewksbury Historical Society's, Board of Directors unanimously approved the proposal by Jim Andella to move the 286 year-old Hardy-Pike House, the third oldest house in town, from its present location at 464 Main Street to preserve it at 155 East Street.

The house was lived in by William and Nehemiah Hardy, who fought in the Revolutionary War. Town Clerks, Alice Pike and Denise Graffeo handed out marriage certificates, birth certificates, and death certificates several hundred years later at the Hardy-Pike house.

The Hardy-Pike House has been on 464 Main Street since 1730 and was first called the Half-Way House. It was positioned as a stagecoach stop half way between Boston and Nashua, New Hampshire. It was also a temporary town hall, several restaurants, a gift shop, and a bookstore/internet cafe. Every house on the town's survey of the historic homes has undergone renovations. Insides get remodeled, outsides get remodeled. It is historic due to its age and what happened at the house. Residents admire the attractive condition of the house while the Town's Assessor might frown knowing we will lose taxes on the $551,900 assessed Inn if demolished.

If Jim Andella is able to move this house to 155 East Street, it will be the first house moved and saved from demolition in recent Tewksbury history. The Society does not want to see this icon demolished but the decision is up to the people of Tewksbury, not the Society and not Jim Andella. We recommend you go to the Town Meeting on May 2 and support the preservation of this building by moving it from 464 Main Street.

Town Manager Richard

Montuori, four years ago came up with a quote of $500,000 to $600,000 for his plan to move it to the old Police Station. The difference between that plan and Jim Andella's plan is that Jim is a developer. Mr. Montuori did not have a source of income to pay for the moving plan thus Montuori opted to demolish it. Jim has a place to put it but he needs a zoning change to "mixed use" to relocate the 286 year-old, Hardy-Pike house. His conceptual plan is to construct 15 townhouses on 3 acres of land. This will help pay for the moving of the Hardy-Pike House.

A. Jim will also have to demolish the house at 155 East Street and to build a new foundation there.

B. Jim will then remove the additions on the Hardy-Pike House. The original house also needs some site work to remove it from its foundation and to fit it down the roadbed.

C. The house will move down Main Street to 155 East Street in one day.

D. The East Street land that Jim Andella owns is in a triangular residential mostly residential area. Let's call this area the "Triangle" for the shape of Lee Street, Chandler Street and East Street. The following facts show the "Triangle" is already a mix of business and residences serving Tewksbury's needs.

1. At the eastern tip of this "Triangle" is a Senior Citizen Center, a business that accommodates the needs of Tewksbury's Senior Citizens as a community meeting, health, and social center.

2. Opposite from the 155 East Street site is a cemetery, owned by a non-profit business run by the Tewksbury Cemetery Trustees for the citizens of this town.

3. Also the eastern tip of the "Triangle" has two Little League fields that accommodate the needs of our youth and it is very busy, community meeting place for Tewksbury adults and baseball players.

4. On the opposite side of this tip of the "Triangle" and running down Chandler Street is the Hospital Campus. This campus houses the Department of Mental Health serving the Commonwealth's citizens and the Public Health Museum that is open to the public. It also has numerous historic buildings and open fields that are used for agricultural and recreational purposes. The Hospital's history is Tewksbury's history and the "Triangle's" history.

e. At the southern tip of the "Triangle" is the Tewksbury Town Library serving Tewksbury citizens.

f. Opposite from the Library is a gasoline, convenience, and Dunkin' Donuts business.

g. On the corner of Lee Street and East Street, there is a multiple dwelling, condo development with a newly renovated, historic building that is approved to be a Bed and Breakfast business.

h. Across the street is a 4 unit, residential apartment house on Lee Street.

i. Also opposite the condo development is a funeral home on the western tip of the Lee Street "Triangle".

You, the tax payer and voters must decide on whether to vote for moving the Hardy-Pike house and rezoning this 3 acre piece of land, or to vote to keep 155 East Street a residential zone thus sentencing the Hardy-Pike House to demolition.

The Tewksbury Historical Commission also joined the Society in supporting Mr. Andella's plans. Their minutes from 1-25-2016 state the Commission "voted 4-0 with 2 members abstaining on January 25, 2016, to support Mr. Andella's effort to rezone 155 East Street from residential to commercial zoning for the purpose of moving the Hardy-Pike House to this property." Curiously, Town Historian Warren Carey abstained. We shall see if the Town Historian will vote to save or vote to demolish on May 2, 2016? Your vote will count as much as Mr. Carey's vote. Will Tewksbury continue to demolish old houses or will this vote stop the wrecking ball's streak?

Kinder Morgan suspends controversial gas pipeline

By BELYNDA CIANCI
News Editor

belynda@yourtowncrier.com

Wilmington/Tewksbury - In the face of dwindling volume prospects and widespread opposition to the project, Kinder Morgan announced last Wednesday that it would suspend its work on the Northeast Energy Direct (NED) natural gas pipeline project. The pipeline project, begun in 2015 with an estimated investment cost of $3.3 billion, had been intended to extend the availability of natural gas through southern New Hampshire and northeastern Massachusetts.

In a statement released by Kinder Morgan, the company stated, "Unfortunately, despite working for more than two years and expending substantial shareholder resources, TGP did not receive the additional commitments it expected. As a result, there are currently neither sufficient volumes, nor a reasonable expectation of securing them, to proceed with the project as it is currently configured." Although the statement did not address the public sentiment against the pipeline, many believe the fierce opposition on the part of residents influenced decisions on purchase commitments.

Objections to the proposed line stemmed from concerns about making the state more dependent on natural gas as an energy source, as well as the environmental impact of a high-pressure natural gas line that would traverse sensitive environmental areas. Besides causing immediate environmental disturbances during the construction phase of the project, opponents cited the potential for future environmental hazards caused by inadvertent breaches or releases of natural gas.

Many residents along the proposed path of the pipeline (known as the "Lynnfield Lateral" on project documentation) mounted strong opposition to the project, with towns and cities along the proposed route working on the State and federal level to halt its progress. Most recently, Kinder Morgan had headed into court to gain access to properties over residents' objections for the purpose of conducting surveying. Wilmington and Tewksbury both filed motions to intervene with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC). According to the FERC website, intervenor status allows the towns certain options, such as participating in the proceedings, requesting re-hearing of Commission orders. It also grants interveners the right to seek relief through the U.S. Court of Appeals.

At Monday's Board of Selectmen meeting, discussion of the stalled pipeline project - and what the suspension meant for residents

- was high on the priority list. Town Manager Jeffrey Hull, while expressing his approval of the suspension, stopped short of calling it an outright victory. In a prepared statement, Hull said, "While this is very good news for Wilmington, the fact that Kinder Morgan's application is being suspended and not withdrawn should be viewed with cautious optimism. The Town [sic] will continue to monitor the status of their FERC filing and be prepared to continue to defend the Town's [sic] interests in the event the filing is reactivated."

Michael McCoy echoed Hull's assessment, saying, "There's two words that we really need to focus on: Stay.

Tuned. This is not the end of this." McCoy expects that the town may see a reprisal of this issue following presidential election, depending on who wins, comparing the project to the Transrail issue, which also entered period of dormancy before coming back to trouble the town again.

Board chairman Michael Champoux lauded the efforts of both citizens and the towns in an effort he believed helped to bring the project to a halt. "I really think this is a testament to what grassroots organizations can accomplish when they put their heads together... I really think this is a tremendous win, not just for us in Wilmington, but for all of Massachusetts and the region. I think this will afford the Commonwealth and the region to pursue more aggressively other avenues for renewable energy."

While the suspension effectively ends any actions and proceedings related to the project, the town will continue to monitor activity in the case for new developments or filings.

Tewksbury and Wilmington Girl Scouts come up with creative way to pamper deserving moms

Girl Scout Troops from Tewksbury and Wilmington came together again this year to make Mother's Day bags for the clients of Healthy Families Lowell. The hand decorated bags are filled with soaps, nail polish, lotions and other pampering items for the mothers who are served by the organization, part of the Massachusetts Office of Family and Children. The Troops that participated include Cadette Troop 60245 Tewksbury, Troops 88109 and 86281 from Wilmington, and Cadette and Senior Troop 66771 from Tewksbury, including from left, Sonia Benejan, Alejandra Godaire, Nguyet Pham Kien, Beverlee Heintzelman, Brittany Gorman and Carmen Baez. The MSPCC office serves parents under the age of 21 with educational and emotional support until their child turns three. The communities of Billerica, Chelmsford, Dracut, Dunstable, Lowell, Tewksbury, Tyngsboro and Westford are served by this office, and native speakers are available for Spanish, Khmer, Vietnamese and Portuguese speaking families. www.msppc.org or 978-935-5810.

Four locals make dean's list at Simmons College

The following local residents were named to the 2015 fall semester dean's list at Simmons College in Boston.

The lone Tewksbury resident includes: Laurena Valente, a nursing major; and Wilmington residents include: Presley Silva, a nursing major; Anne Thomae, a nursing student and Morgan Higgs, who is undeclared.

To qualify for dean's list status, undergraduate students must obtain a grade point average of 3.5 or higher, based on 12 or more credit hours of work in classes using the letter grade system.

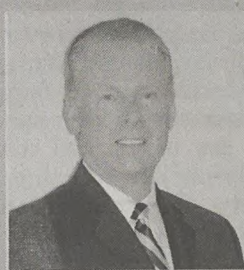

Simmons College (www.simmons.edu) is a nationally recognized private university located in the heart of Boston, and is the preeminent authority on women's leadership.

Lack of competent leaders serious issue for America

By PAUL J. ANDREWS
Guest Columnist

Students of American History, both current and past, have been commenting over the course of the last ten years at least about the lack of solid choices, when it comes to voting for solid competent leaders at the national presidential level.

This column will focus on the issues around this lack of highly competent candidates in our American culture today. While we have had some great leaders on Pennsylvania Avenue, we have been told through the words and words of Doris Kearns Goodwin and other presidential scholars in their books that many presidents or "would be" occupants had a mixture of great leadership skills, some good luck at some points in their term or terms and for many, personal issues of a complex nature in trying to keep the "train on the tracks" inside the White House walls.

Why the current problem exists?

Perhaps this is a bad year to be talking about this on the eve of another vote in several states for their choice of president but then again may be a perfect time. If everyone voted who lives in America, I am seriously of the opinion that if a choice was listed on the ballot with "none of the above" an option, I seriously feel this may well be the winner but that gets you nowhere fast.

First "all" Americans do not vote and many of those who do vote feel this year uncomfortable with their choices. This is not the case for all, as there is strong support for all candidates by many people. While all of the predictions point to a Clinton win on the Democratic side, many Sanders' folks feel he still has a chance to win.

On the Republican side this seems to be "jump ball politics" as far as I am concerned, with three finalists in the race and in my mind not a final solid choice as the pundits feel Trump will be blocked at the gate. Just don't try to guess the answer on this one.

So, where does that leave the election. In the minds of several polls, calculations are being made that Clinton will win the Democratic race subject to multiple wins by Sanders this week. He has become a strong candidate with the young and senior population plus many in between these groups.

Others out there are saying "don't be certain" as any legal actions taken against candidate Clinton in the pre-convention period could impact on delegates who are uncommitted. On the Republican side, Trump could be the recipient of a combination of votes to reach the needed number as Republican insiders seem to be attempting to find a different solution. Any predictions on these two races to a nomination are far too premature.

Current atmosphere of leadership

There appears to be a huge increase in the number of individuals who shy away from leadership positions in general because of the current atmosphere of time, demands, blame, etc. I see this, for example, in school administrative leadership positions everyday, as finding and keeping great leaders is getting harder and harder each and every year.

"The blame game" of our current society is not to shine the light on a great leader but to quickly point the finger of a problem on the leader of an organization, company, state, nation, etc. Let me add that in some cases this is not wrong but as several perspective leaders comment to me, why do I need this?

For some solid reasons "time with one's family" has been raised to a greater level for society and family morale, meaning that being a leader often results in a lack of free time of being with your family or just doing things you want to do, as your schedule is full every day, all the time.

Somehow we expect leaders to be available all the time, which most understand but there is a limit to this. This entire picture changes inside the White House as you are really on duty every minute of every day, 365 days a year with the eyes and ears of the world on you.

The result of all of these issues is that we are not seeing numerous highly competent leaders step forward to run for the position of president. This means that in the current atmosphere, candidates are running who feel they can handle these demands with the scrutiny of the 24 hour media cycle and living in just about as close to a glass house as you could find.

An NBC/Wall Street Journal recently stated that Trump and Clinton are some of the most unpopular front runners in recent history. Also this past week, Larry Sabato of the University of Virginia's Center for Politics stated that Clinton and Trump "superficially have one-termer written all over them."

Talk about confusion, I am wondering if candidates to succeed the winners in this race are ready to make their announcement right after the Presidential Inauguration ceremony.

Let's Hear it!!

Your Two Cents...

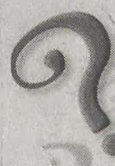

I got onto RTE 128 N. and passed an Agganis Driving School car with student and instructor on board. The young lad driving had a baseball cap and 'hoodie' on. What was the lesson? Peripheral Vision Impairment - 101? Mr. Miceli, shouldn't there be a law? This is as dangerous as wearing ear buds and texting while driving. No place for this obstruction unless you are driving a snowplow in the dead of winter!

Wilmington

My timing was fortunate as I rolled my big blue trash receptacle down a lengthy, icy driveway to the curb on Tuesday morning. (Yes, it was April.). The truck was just making the rounds. I waited while the operator extended the device arms to lift my bin, flip it upside down and empty it. I was perplexed when he backed up the truck, toward me. He then extended the arms as far up my driveway as they would allow, and carefully place the bin in front of me, so that I had a shorter distance to wheel it back up the icy driveway. Such a nice gesture!

Thank you, bearded man!
Wilmington

About a year ago my neighbor rented a dumpster. When his next door neighbor walked over and threw something away in it, the renter of the dumpster came out and yelled at him. A couple of months later the neighbor that got yelled at put up a fence between his house and his neighbor's house that rented the dumpster. Probably so they don't have to look at each other and start an argument.

Today on April 9, (2016) my neighbors across the street, (which is on the opposite side of my neighbor's house that got yelled at from the dumpster renter,) had a fence put up probably because my two neighbors are feuding. That way they don't have to look at each other when they're in their backyards.

Woodbriar Health Center allowed to take in new residents

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health (DPH) has allowed Woodbriar Health Center to return to taking new residents and accepted the facility's plan to correct issues raised by two recent incidents, Woodbriar announced today.

"The state's acceptance of our plan means that Woodbriar has addressed all issues raised by the incidents and is in full compliance with state regulations," said Donna Beck, Executive Director, Woodbriar Health Center. "Our residents, their families and our provider partners can be assured that Woodbriar is a safe, high-quality facility for seniors."

Beck said that as a result of the incidents, Woodbriar has made personnel changes, reviewed and updated various systems, policies and procedures, and re-educated and re-trained staff.

"I am proud of the Woodbriar staff for working incredibly hard to resolve this matter while staying focused on the job of caring for our residents," Beck added. "I am also grateful to our residents, their families and our provider partners who maintained their confidence in Woodbriar."

Beck also noted that in the past year, Woodbriar has made a number of improvements, including:

Investing in the staff by instituting annual pay raises and an employee incentive program that is unsurpassed in the industry.

A mentoring program for all new employees and training for the mentors.

An upgraded IT system and new computers.

A transportation program that pays the travel costs of family members visiting their loved ones at Woodbriar.

An innovative concierge service that caters to the individual needs of each resident.

"We are always looking to improve and we believe these strategic investments will help make Woodbriar an even better facility for patients and an even stronger asset to the community," Beck said.

The consequences of lying to your lawyer

By Ellen Wright

Lying is never a good idea, but the last person you should lie to is your lawyer. No matter what the rationale may be, honesty is always the best policy when it comes to dealing with an attorney who you've either consulted with or retained to represent you.

Confidentiality: A relationship predicated on trust

One of the founding principles of the American legal system is confidentiality in the communications between a lawyer and his or her client. The attorney-client privilege protects confidential communications between a client or prospective client and an attorney made for the primary purpose of obtaining legal advice or assistance. Except in a few limited circumstances, the attorney cannot reveal these confidential communications to a third party or in the course of any legal proceeding. This principle of confidentiality is based on the idea that an attorney needs to know all the facts of a client's case, favorable and unfavorable, in order to effectively advocate for the client and achieve his or her goals. With this principle in mind, lawyers strongly encourage their clients to be candid with them about the details of their case, no matter how embarrassing or unpleasant. In fact, if a client is not truthful with their advocate, it can be grounds for an attorney to withdraw from representation of that person altogether. Nevertheless, some clients misrepresent or omit important facts and details they feel might hurt their case despite warnings not to do so. Because all communications between the client and the attorney regarding the client's case are held in confidence, lying will not only reduce the odds of achieving the client's goals and adversely affect the client's case, but will cause the attorney to have strong misgivings about the client.

Judges judge: The attorney advocates and defends

An attorney's job is to advocate and defend, not judge. When people seek legal assistance, especially for family law matters such as divorce, the attorney must many personal questions during the intake process. Clients are sometimes reluctant to disclose facts they view as unfavorable out of fear that the lawyer may judge them for their actions and not accept them as a client. They may also withhold certain unpleasant details that they believe the lawyer doesn't need to know or they think are irrelevant to the case. Be mindful that lawyers handle cases involving indiscretions such as adultery, drug use, abuse, and other offensive activity on a regular basis and there is unlikely anything that will shock an experienced lawyer. Most attorneys are compassionate and will empathize with a sensitive and difficult situation. It is never an attorney's intention to embarrass or make a person uncomfortable, but in order to do his or her job, an attorney know all of the adverse facts in order to effectively strategize and plan. In fact, an experienced lawyer may know how to put a positive spin on even the worst possible set of circumstances. It is always better to err on the side of caution, and be completely forthcoming with an attorney, so that they can effectively advocate for the client.

The adverse effects: Irreparable damage

Clients who lie to their lawyers are subjecting themselves to a lose-lose scenario. The truth almost always has a way of coming out - in one form or another. If adverse facts aren't revealed up front and dealt with, it is likely that they will surface at a later stage of litigation and be used against the client by the opposing party. In many cases, it can have devastating consequences for both the client and the lawyer. The worst case scenario for the client is when a lie is exposed during the client's testimony while under oath. More likely than not, it will come out under cross-examination while credibility is under attack.

Attorneys also may also undergo scrutiny when clients are not truthful and sustain damage to their reputations. Attorneys are officers of the court and subscribe to the Rules of Professional Conduct which prohibit them from assisting client in perpetuating a fraud (making misrepresentations) to the Court. If a client is caught in a lie, it may also call the actions of the lawyer into question, and may cause the attorney to appear in a bad light before the Court. If this happens, an attorney may seek to withdraw from the case in order to protect his or her reputation.

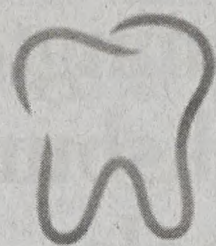

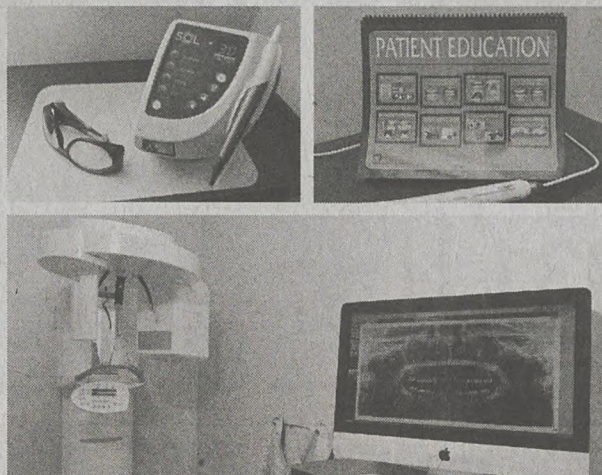

It is clear that clients gain nothing by lying to their lawyers. The best thing clients can do for themselves is be forthcoming in all their communications with their attorney and avoid the chances of an unfavorable outcome. Because private conversations with attorneys are almost always treated as confidential, it is better to talk about unpleasant facts early with them early on rather than to be caught off guard later. Candor isn't just important; it is the cornerstone of the attorney-client relationship. Without mutual trust between the lawyer and client, both are at a disadvantage.

have to pay athletic fees. I think it's a fair balance."

Selectmen candidate Kevin Caira had a short but powerful priority list going into the final stretch of the election. One of the top items on the list was maintaining and improving the diversity of real estate and rental options in the town. "Wilmington has a diverse housing status right now. I know at this year's Town Meeting... we're trying to get an over 55-plus housing community in town. I'm in favor of it, and I hope the residents will be in favor of it."

For those residents paying taxes on property in town, Caira also addressed the balance of taxation and available services. "We just want to maintain the affordability of the town, to make sure that the residents are accustomed to the same programs and services." "We're fortunate. We don't have a town where people pay for full-day kindergarten, sports fees, trash fees." Balancing those benefits against the financial needs of the town and its residents will continue to be an area of interest going forward.

The growing opioid epidemic in the state is of particular concern to Caira, who believes that education and prevention are a major component in an overall plan to combat the abuse of opioid and other illegal substances. "I'm supportive of the town manager's budget. He's put in an $80,000 budget to help with education. He's trying to get a counseling program where people can go and get help as it's needed. It's important that we start with education in the schools."

At the close of voting, Greg Caira topped the ballot with 1,419 votes; second victor Greg Bendel came away from the polls with 1,374.

During a special election-night broadcast to announce election results, Greg Bendel expressed gratitude for both the voters of the town, and the supporters who carried him to a Selectmen seat. "Thank you to all the residents who came out to vote today. I appreciate the support and the trust they put in me to serve and volunteer for the town of Wilmington, the town I grew up in and that I love." Bendel was sure to thank some very dear supporters, as well. "I particularly want to thank my family and my wife for all the support."

Caira also expressed his appreciation the workers and residents that made his win possible. "I want to thank all the supporters and voters that came out today... I am ready, and will do my very best in this position. They can count on that. I'll start from day one."

Caira and Bendel wasted no time in getting to grips with their new roles. They joined colleagues at the table on Monday night for their first regular Board meeting, partaking in duties ranging from honoring youth hockey members, to discussing the apparent demise of the Kinder Morgan Northeast Energy Direct pipeline project.

Despite the fanfare of the night's largest race, another contest proved to be small but active. With no Housing Authority candidates running on the ballot, voters decided the contest based on write-in candidates Ioannis (John) Alefantis and John Goggin. The result of that race, too close to project on election night, was announced Monday. Separated by only a handful of votes, Alefantis rose to the top of the ballot, beating Goggin 53 to 35.

Alefantis came to the race intent on keeping Wilmington affordable for residents from every economic background.

"We need a state appointee," said Alefantis, to give the town a voice at the state level, have a positive impact on the budget for the maintenance of affordable properties, and allow it to better serve the needs of the community. "We're at $120,000 per year. We have 69 elder units, 13 SF homes, and federally there's section 8 which only allows us 11 vouchers." The current waiting list for affordable housing currently stands at around 100 applicants with a variety of needs. The current waiting list for affordable units is two to three years. "It's not adequate for what we need." With the win, Alefantis now gets down to work on those goals.

With election season drawing to a close, the town now turns its attention to the annual town meeting, taking place Saturday, April 30th at 10:30 am in the Wilmington High School Auditorium.

Selectmen praise Wilmington Youth Hockey champs

are the best times of your lives, so please enjoy this."

Michael McCoy compared the success of these teams to the recent state titles won by the Wilmington High School, recalling how those boys would dye their hair blonde at the beginning of the state tournament and keep it that way throughout the duration.

"You should have done what they did," he laughed, recalling how the selectmen had entered their next session after the Wildcats' victory wearing blonde wigs. "Next year, get whatever color you want. If it's red, I guarantee I'll wear a red wig next year."

New Board members Kevin Caira and Gregory Bendel joined in with congratulations of their own.

"Hockey in Wilmington is a great tradition, and I can see by you guys and ladies that you're going to be moving right up to the High School level and beyond," Caira said. "Hopefully, when you become a pro you'll remember this day and you'll sign a puck for me."

Bendel congratulated the teams, and joined in his fellow Selectmen with thanking the "coaches and the parents who put an awful lot of time, long hours, out of their busy schedules. It was well worth it."

The boys and girls of the winning teams received personal congratulations and certificates, surrounded all the way up by choruses of applause from attending family and friends. The awards presentation proved to be a shot of energy for the Selectmen.

"This can be a tough gig at times, but these moments make it all worthwhile," said chairman Michael Champoux.

Correction

In the April 20 edition, we reported that Eagle Scout Frank West, Jr had been selected as the "Massachusetts Eagle Scout of the Year." The headline should have read, "Frank West, Jr named American Legion Eagle Scout of the Year for Massachusetts." We congratulate Frank West, Jr on this honor.

Zoning, budgets go before voters

Wilmington Town Meeting this Saturday

The Town of Wilmington will hold its Annual Town Meeting this Saturday, March 30th at 10:30am in the Wilmington High School Auditorium. All eligible voters in the town are encouraged to attend and have their voice heard on the fiscal and planning issues of the coming year.

One of the priority items on the agenda is the establishment of three parcels of land reserved for 55+ housing development, a move meant to bring greater diversity to the pool of available housing.

Another article would establish a town corner in the honor of deceased war veteran William R. Harrison, a lifelong resident of Wilmington who, according to the petition, "served his country honorably in the Navy Seabees, on Guadalcanal and Luzon during WW2." The corner would be commemorated with a sign.

Other issues coming before the town for consideration include the appropriation of funds for such projects as replacing response vehicles such as cruisers, ambulance, and command vehicles, replacing public works department vehicles, and a school department student transport van. The warrant articles also seek money to complete several infrastructure-related projects.

More specific projects under consideration include the partial replacement of the roof at the Boutwell School, purchase the "Foundations ELA Program" and "Lucy Calkins" study units for elementary school curriculum needs, and several other funding issues including the annual Fun on the Fourth celebration.

Several issues of zoning will come before town meeting, including changes to zoning bylaws, flood plane zoning, formalization of many statutes involving dog ownership and kenneling, and changes to the way traffic tickets are handled in town.

The town will vote on the disposition of several plots of town owned land, including properties at Faulkner Avenue and Beeching Avenue.

Registered voters are encouraged to arrive promptly at 10:30 in order to secure the quorum necessary to proceed with voting.

Tewksbury resident part of two-day Alzheimer Habilitation Program

ABC Home Healthcare Professionals recently held an Alzheimer Habilitation Program. A total of 23 ABC home health aides attended the two-day course to learn how to better care for their clients with Alzheimer's or Dementia.

Habilitation Therapy is a method used to best care for and positively enhance the quality of life for those who have dementia or Alzheimer's disease.

The program demonstrates the best strategies for minimizing the client's limitations by focusing on their strengths and abilities. By learning these strategies, the caregivers can improve the quality of life for their clients with Alzheimer's disease or other dementias.

The 16-hour course was taught at the ABC Home Healthcare Professionals corporate office by Jeanette Murray, RN, from North Shore Community College. The graduates include: Marie Anacasis, Moise Bernard, Lancey Cantave, Cindy Casaletto, and Kelly Stark all of Everett; Rochelle Cohen and Islande Hilaire of Medford; Jennifer Davidson, Irlanda Vales, and Jane Kiruki of Malden; Jen Dolan, Sheila Mugeny, and Darlene O'Hearn of Wakefield; Jan Ghanoni of Lowell; Marie Gedeon of Somerville; Molly Grzelyck of Tewksbury; Jessica Harper of Manchester-by-the-Sea; Alison Hatzis and Marie Voltaire-France of Woburn; Mary Marcangelo of Lynn; Gladys Paredes of Lawrence; and Cassandra Peltzman and Maria Villar of Revere.

"We are so pleased that twenty-two staff members took this opportunity to enhance their caregiving skills. Jeanette Murray brought the Habilitation Therapy Program to life in her class. We know that our ABC caregivers are well-trained to handle our current and future clients who have dementia," said Jeannette Sheehan, MS, RN, CS Board Certified Family Nurse Practitioner at ABC Home Healthcare.

First Responder Holiday Bill officially signed by Governor Baker

On Friday, April 15, Governor Charlie Baker adopted H.4161, An Act Designating the Sunday Preceding the Third Monday in April as First Responder Day, and issued the following statement upon signing the bill into law:

"First responders put their own lives on the line to save others in danger, and we have a responsibility to ensure they receive strong leadership, representation and recognition on Beacon Hill," said Governor Baker. "Every day, these brave men and women and their families provide extraordinary service to the Commonwealth. We strive to follow their example and will use this occasion every year to recommit ourselves to doing so."

"Patriots Day brings the people of Massachusetts together around the shared history and traditions that make our region so unique," said Massachusetts Public Safety Secretary Dan Bennett. "Our first responders are always present to guard our safety as we celebrate these traditions, and it is fitting that we have a day to officially commemorate all that they do."

"I couldn't think of a better time for Governor Baker to sign this legislation, and I am proud to have him joining us in remembering our first responders, especially given it is the anniversary weekend of the marathon bombings. Ever since (former Tewksbury selectman) Jerry Selissen first approached me with this idea I have been determined to see this legislation through, as a day of thanks to our first responders was long overdue," said bill sponsor Representative James Miceli.

"These men and women who serve as our firefighters, EMT, police, and more risk everything by putting on their uniforms, and I know the people of the Commonwealth will join Governor Baker and myself in showing their appreciation to our first responders, both past and present."

This year, April 17, 2016 shall be designated as First Responders Day.

Wilmington Good Guy induction dinner, May 13

The 2016 Wilmington Good Guy will be inducted in a surprise celebration on Friday May 13th at the Wilmington Knights of Columbus Hall. This individual is being recognized for their many years of Community Service to the Town and its residents.

The 48th Annual Dinner will begin with a social hour at 6:30 pm, followed by dinner at 7:30 pm, and then the Award Presentation featuring a good-natured "roast", honoring our newest inductee.

The Good Guy Committee wishes to thank all of the individuals who sent nominations to recognize their candidates. As always, the selection process was difficult, as there are many deserving individuals.

Tickets must be purchased in advance. No tickets are sold at door. Tickets are priced at $25.00 and can be purchased from 2015 Good Guy Anne St. Onge who can be contacted at 978-658-5036.

OBITUARIES

John C. Biondo

Loved his cars and riding his Harley, employed at Raytheon for 30 years

John C. Biondo, "Johnny B" age 51, of Dracut, formerly a long-time resident of Wilmington, died unexpectedly on April 24, 2016, at the Lowell General Hospital.

John was raised and educated in Wilmington and a graduate of Austin Prep High School in Reading with the Class of 1983.

John worked as a Global Network Service Delivery Manager at Raytheon where he was employed for more than 30 years.

In his spare time, John loved his cars and riding his Harley with his buddies. He was quite the host when it came to his Daytona 500 parties and a good time was had by all.

John enjoyed the outdoors; ice fishing, riding his skidoo, and his many Summers spent at Country Pond Campground in New Hampshire with family and friends.

John will be fondly remembered as dependable, helpful, and a true friend. He loved his family unconditionally and could always be counted on to do anything for anyone. John was kind, caring, friendly and fun; he will be forever missed by all who knew and loved him.

John was the cherished son of Charles R. and Noreen T. (Skehill) Biondo, dear brother of Julie M. Pozzi & husband Chris and the late Joseph C. Biondo, loving uncle of Jonathan and Heather Pozzi all of Wilmington. Devoted companion of Carolyn Callahan and her children Caitlin & D. J. all of Dracut. John is also survived by many aunts, uncles, cousins, and friends.

Family and Friends will gather at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington, on Thursday, April 28th at 9:00 a.m. followed by a Mass of Christian Burial in St. Dorothy's Church, Main St. (Rte. 38), Wilmington at 10:00 a.m. Visiting hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Wednesday, April 27th from 4:00-8:00 p.m.

In lieu of flowers donations in John's name may be made to the Joseph Biondo Scholarship Fund, c/o Wilmington High School, 159 Church St., Wilmington, MA 01887 or to the ALS Association Massachusetts Chapter, 315 Norwood Park South - 1st Floor, Norwood, MA 02062.

JoAnn Cann (D'Alelio)

Cherished her role as "Grand Mama", amazing cook

JoAnn Cann (D'Alelio), age 74, of Port Orange, FL, formerly of Wilmington, died peacefully on April 5, 2016.

JoAnn was born November 13, 1941, in Idaho; she was the dear daughter of the late Michael and Thora D'Alelio. JoAnn lived in Idaho for a few years before her family moved to Massachusetts and settled in East Boston. As a teenager, JoAnn moved to Wilmington where she was raised and educated; living the majority of her life before retiring to Port Orange, Florida 18 years ago.

JoAnn was very dedicated to her family and her love for them unconditional. She cherished her role as "Grand Mama"; her grandchildren were such a bright spot in her life and she was so proud of each and every one of them.

JoAnn was also known to be an amazing cook and everyone looked forward to going to her house for dinners and holidays. JoAnn was also an avid gardener who had quite a green thumb and a fashionista who took much pride in her appearance as well as her children's.

American Indian Heritage was always a source of pride for JoAnn. She also had a fascination for fairy's that was shared with her family and friends and she enjoyed showering her grandchildren with fairy dust to heal everything.

JoAnn will be fondly remembered as a wonderful wife, mother, grandmother, daughter, sister, aunt, and a true friend to many; she will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her.

JoAnn was the beloved wife of Richard Cann, devoted mother of Michael Micalizzi and wife Dawne, Mark Micalizzi and companion Janice Lapham, Michelle Hooper and husband George, and Richard Cann and fiancé

Cheryl Randall all of Wilmington, Rick Cann and wife Norma and Ron Cann and wife Anne all of Billerica. Loving "Grand Mama" of Michael, Ashley, George, Julianne, Sheree, James, Kaitlyn, Carley, Erin, Sean, Alisha, Marissa, and great-grandsons Dylan and Jacob. Cherished daughter of the late Michael and Thora D'Alelio, dear sister of Jenny-Lee Miller of Maine, Michael D'Alelio and wife Bernie of Alaska, the late Jimmy, Glen, Reynold, Norma, and Virginia. Richard L. Desjardins

A true family man, once of president the Danvers Fish and Game Club

Richard L. Desjardins, age 70, of Wilmington, formerly of Salem and Peabody passed away on April 20th, 2016, surrounded by his loving family.

Born in Peabody on April 11th, 1946, Richard (Dick, Dickie, DJ) was the son of the late Roger and Annette (Bonsant) Desjardins. He grew up in Salem and was part of the first graduating class of Bishop Fenwick High School in 1964.

After high school, Richard enlisted in the Navy Reserves but an injury forced his discharge before he could serve our country.

In October of 1966, Richard married the love of his life, Patricia. The couple resided in the Salem Willows neighborhood and raised their two daughters, Cynthia and Deborah, there. After 35 years in Salem, Dick and Pat moved to Peabody where they spent 11 years before recently moving to Wilmington.

Dick was a real outdoors kind of guy. When he was a kid, Dick was part of the Boy Scouts where he gained an appreciation for nature. He was an avid hunter and fisherman. Dick enjoyed spending time at his "home away from home", the Danvers Fish and Game Club, serving as their president in 1981. Dick also loved gardening, cooking and model trains, as well as Boston sports. He especially enjoyed watching his children and grandchildren play sports and perform on stage.

Dick was a true family man. He worked hard to provide for his family. Dick worked at North Shore Disposal, a company owned by his father. Several years later Dick started Desjardins Disposal. He later worked for Waste Management as a truck driver until suffering five strokes in 2004. Dick would do anything for his family. He served as a Girl Scouts Leader for his daughter Cindy's troop when nobody else would volunteer.

Dick also held office in the Salem High Music Boosters while Debby was in the high school band. He lived for his family and friends, as well as his dogs, Zephyr (whose ashes will be buried with him) and Pippy, who misses her Daddy terribly. Dick was a good-hearted and loyal person who will be sorely missed by those who knew him.

Dick was the beloved husband of Patricia L. (Lavender) Desjardins. He was the devoted father of Cynthia Stratouly and her husband Donn of Wilmington and Deborah Alter and her husband Edward of North Reading. Dick was the loving grandfather of Stephanie Perez and her husband Ernesto, Jonathan Stratouly, Gregory Stratouly, Nicholas Stratouly, Madelyn Alter and Cameron Alter. He leaves behind his great-grandchildren Jaylen and Sofia Perez. He was the dear brother of Carol Rourke and her husband James of Middleton. Dick is also survived by his nephews, Christopher Rourke and Erik Rourke and his wife Colleen.

Family and friends gathered for a Funeral Service at the Nichols Funeral Home, Inc., 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rte. 62), Wilmington, MA on April 25th at 1:00 p.m. Interment was held in Wildwood Cemetery, Wilmington. Visiting hours were held at the Funeral Home on Sunday, April 24th from 1:00 - 5:00 p.m.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations in Richard's memory may be made to Cape Ann Animal Aid, 4 Paws Lane, Gloucester, MA 01930, where Dick and Pippy rescued each other.

Robert "Bob" T. Pierce

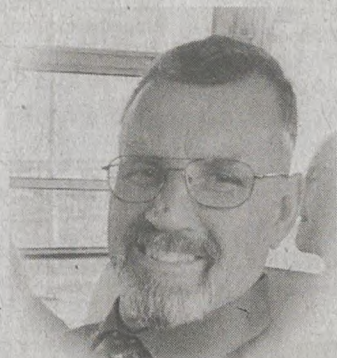

Worked in the Construction Business

Robert T. Pierce, "Bob" age 58 of Wilmington, formerly of Cambridge, died peacefully at home surrounded by his loving family on April 25, 2016, following a courageous battle with brain cancer.

Bob was born on September 25, 1965, in Cambridge, MA; he was the cherished son of the Joan M. (Dupont) and the late Clyde A. Pierce. Bob was raised and educated in Cambridge and a graduate of Cambridge High and Latin High School with the Class of 1975.

Bob married his "sweetheart" Patty McMahon in April of 1985; just celebrating their 31st wedding anniversary. Bob and Patty shared many great times together over the years with their family and friends. The couple moved to Wilmington in 1991 where they raised two beautiful daughters, Rachel and Collette; Bob loved being a dad and he was always so proud of his girls.

Bob worked hard for his family in the construction business. His great personality and work ethic landed him countless jobs in the carpentry field. Bob worked all over the area roofing, building decks and porches, installing windows just to name a few areas; he was very loyal and friendly to his customers and he built a great reputation throughout the years.

In his spare time Bob enjoyed golfing, watching sports, and taking to the open road on his Harley with his buddies.

Bob treasured the time spent with family and friends; his love for them was evident in everything he did. Bob was dependable, loyal, and kind; he was a fighter who never gave up hope as his illness progressed. Bob was truly an amazing man who was dearly loved and will forever be missed.

Bob was the beloved husband of Patricia "Patty" (McMahon) Pierce, devoted father of Rachel P. and Collette M. Pierce all of Wilmington, cherished son of Joan M. (Dupont) Pierce and the late Clyde A. Pierce of Cambridge, dear brother of Sheryl Callahan & husband Robert of No. Carolina. Uncle of Caroline Callahan, Kerry and Christopher Fanning, and Andrew McMahon, nephew of Carolyn Cabral of Somerville and George Dupont of Texas, cousin of Michael Cabral, Richard Cabral, and Sharon Capasso. Brother-in-law of James and the late Susan McMahon and Leonard and Mary Ellen McMahon all of West Roxbury and Catherine and James Fanning of Saugus. Bob is also survived by many dear friends.

Family and friends will gather for a Funeral Service on Friday, April 29th at 11:00 a.m. in the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave. (Rte. 62), Wilmington. Visiting Hours will be held at the Funeral Home on Thursday, April 28th from 4:00-8:00 p.m.

In lieu of flowers donations in Bob's memory may be made to the National Brain Tumor Society, 55 Chapel Street, Suite 200, Newton, MA 02458.

Jay Atkinson to speak on "Massacre on the Merrimack" at Tewksbury Library May 5

TEWKSBURY, MA - Popular local author Jay Atkinson will discuss his latest book, "Massacre on the Merrimack: Hannah Duston's Captivity and Revenge in Colonial America," on Thursday, May 5, from 7-8pm at the Tewksbury Public Library.

Was Hannah Duston the prototypical feminist avenger or the harbinger of the Native American genocide? Based on his meticulously researched and riveting book, Atkinson will shed new light on the answer.

Early on March 15, 1697, during the King William's War, a band of Abenaki warriors, in service to the French, raided the English frontier village of Haverhill, Massachusetts. Striking swiftly, the Native Americans killed twenty-seven men, women, and children, and took thirteen captives, including 39-year-old Hannah Duston and her week-old daughter, Martha. A short distance from the village, one of the warriors murdered the squalling infant.

After witnessing her infant's murder, Duston vowed to get revenge. Two weeks into her captivity, Duston and her companions moved among the sleeping Abenaki with tomahawks and knives, killing two men, two women, and six children. After scalping their victims, Duston and the others escaped down the Merrimack River in a stolen canoe. They braved treacherous waters and the constant threat of attack, returning to tell their story and collect a bounty for the scalps.

Jay Atkinson, a Boston University writing professor, is the author of eight books, including a Publishers Weekly Notable Book of the Year, a New England Bookseller's Association bestseller, and a Boston Globe bestseller. Atkinson, called "the bard of New England toughness" by Men's Health magazine, has written for the New York Times, Boston Globe, Boston Globe Magazine, and Boston Herald. He has been nominated for the Pushcart Prize three times.

Adults and high school students from Tewksbury and beyond are invited to attend this free hour-long event. A Q&A and book signing - for those interested - will take place after the presentation. Due to limited space, attendees are asked to pre-register and reserve their seats by calling 978-640-4490 x 205, emailing rhayes@mvlc.org, or visiting the library's online calendar of events at www.tewksburypl.org.

The event will take place in the library's first-floor, handicap-accessible Meeting Room. The library is located at 300 Chandler Street, at the corner of Chandler and Main Street (Route 38).

Nathalia Holt to discuss her new book at Tewksbury Public Library

TEWKSBURY, MA - Bestselling author Nathalia Holt, Ph.D., will discuss her new book, "Rise of the Rocket Girls: The Women Who Propelled Us, from Missiles to the Moon to Mars," on Tuesday, May 3, from 7pm to 8pm, at the Tewksbury Public Library.

Holt will explore the riveting true story of the women who launched America into space.

In the 1940s and 50s, when the newly minted Jet Propulsion Laboratory needed quick-thinking mathematicians to calculate velocities and plot trajectories, they didn't turn to male graduates. Instead, they recruited an elite group of young women who, with only pencil, paper, and mathematical prowess, transformed rocket design, helped bring about the first American satellites, and made the exploration of the solar system possible.

For the first time, Holt's book tells the fascinating stories of these women, known as "human computers," who broke the boundaries of both gender and science. Based on extensive research and interviews with all the living members of the team, Holt offers a unique perspective on the role of women in science: both where we've been, and the far reaches of space to which we're heading.

"My hope is that these women serve as role models for all of the women that are interested in science," Holt recently told National Public Radio. "It's a difficult time for women in technology right now. In 1984, 37 percent of all bachelor's degrees in computer science were awarded to women, and today that number has dropped to 18 percent. And even for women that are working in science today, it's about half of all women that leave midcareer. So I think these stories are important for inspiring and being role models that are so much needed for women today."

"Rise of the Rocket Girls" is currently a New York Times bestseller, an "Amazon Best Book" for April, and one of Entertainment Weekly's "10 Books You Have To Read in April." The book received starred reviews from Publishers Weekly, Booklist, and Library Journal (Editors' Choice Pick). Girls Who Code called it "a must read for any woman in tech or interested in technology."

Adults, high school students and middle school students from Tewksbury and beyond are invited to attend this free hour-long event. A Q&A and book signing - for those interested - will take place after the presentation. Due to limited space, attendees are asked to pre-register and reserve their seats by calling 978-640-4490x205, emailing rhayes@mvlc.org, or visiting the library's online calendar of events at www.tewksburypl.org.

The event will take place in the library's first-floor, handicap-accessible Meeting Room. The library is located at 300 Chandler Street, at the corner of Chandler and Main Street (Route 38).

Wilmington Memorial Library off the shelf

Digitize your videos and photographs

By Brad McKenna
Wilmington
Technology Librarian

Do you have old VHS tapes but no VCR, or print photographs you would like to preserve and share with others? The library's Digital Media Lab (DML) has the tech features that you need and the process is fairly simple.

The DML was purchased by the Friends of the Library and is available for anyone to use. Bring your video to the library, pop it in the VCR and click on the "Egalto app." It will copy the video to an mp4 file. When it finishes, you can load the file into Final Cut Pro if you want to add graphics, text, or other features.

Once you like your edits, you can either upload the file to a USB drive or burn it to a DVD. Now you can watch the video of your wedding on your TV or on your computer!

If you have photographs you want to digitize, the DML can help out with that, too. This process starts by scanning your photos. You can then edit the photos using Photoshop software on the DML, which lets you get rid of "red eyes," tweak the contrast, brightness, sharpness, or even add some text to the photos. Next, you can upload your finished work to a USB drive (or cloud storage) or burn them to a DVD. Now you are ready to share your photographs via email, on your Facebook page, etc. You can also add your digitized photos to custom greeting cards and other personal gifts.

The library's DML is located on the first floor and can be used on a first come first served basis. If you would like a tutorial on how to use the DML, please book a one on one Tech Help session, with Brad McKenna, the Technology Librarian. Please call the library at 978-658-2967 to book a Tech Help Session.

Award-winning Tewksbury watercolorist on exhibit May 1 in Marblehead

"FLOW," an exhibit featuring scenes from the sea, lakes, rivers, and other bodies of water by award-winning Tewksbury watercolorist Mary Gilbert Remillong, will be on exhibit in Stetson Gallery in the Unitarian Universalist Church of Marblehead throughout the month of May.

An opening reception for the exhibit will be held on Sunday, May 1, from 12-2 p.m. at the Gallery, located at 28 Mugford St., Marblehead.

In addition, the Gallery and the Remillong exhibit will be featured as part of Art Walk in Marblehead on May 14 and 15.

"I have always loved water in all its forms, even rain, snow, and ice," Mary Remillong explains. "The flow, movement and freedom that the fluidity of water embodies speak to both my body and soul. From the rivers and beaches of my childhood in New Jersey, and the banks of the Mississippi where we lived for many years, to the seaside villages of the North Shore, the Cape and Maine, I always feel most alive and happiest when I come home to the water. Invariably then, my fingers itch for the brush!"

Mary Gilbert Remillong has been painting since she was a child, but her artistry has evolved and matured over the decades that she has dedicated to art.

"As I grow older, the effort to 'go with the flow' in watercolor and life is an ongoing lesson. I believe the fluidity of watercolor as a medium should direct its expression. It often takes a great deal of time and practice to make a work appear loose and free, even effortless, but that is my goal. If the work leaves some mystery for viewers to think about and interpret in their own way, it becomes a conversation that flows between my mind and the viewer's."

Mary Gilbert Remillong graduated from Mount Holyoke College with a degree in studio art, studied graphic design at Parsons School of Design, and studied figure and life drawing at The Art Students League of New York. She studied watercolor with the late Tom Sutherland of Melrose and has taken workshops with Alvaro Castagnet, Joseph Zubukvic and Z L Feng.

She is a member of the Newton Watercolor Society, the Reading Art Association, and of Boston North Artists. She has won many awards in oils, watercolor and sculpture and exhibits at the Sea Bell Gallery in Ogunquit, Maine.

In addition to the Opening Reception and Art Walk weekend, Stetson Gallery is open weekdays 9 a.m.-2 p.m. and during Church events at other times. The winter/spring 2016 Gallery season continues in June with an exhibit by local artists in honor of Pride Month.

Tewksbury Public School's 32nd annual Art Exhibit and Spring Concert, May 13-14

This year the Tewksbury Public Schools will be sponsoring the 32nd Annual Art Exhibit and Spring Band Concert. The year's events will be held at the Tewksbury Memorial High School. The exhibit will be held over a twoday period to allow more time for students and families to view the material.

The dates have been set for:

Friday, May 13, 2016
6:30 - 7:00 PM; Band Concert with Open Mic to immediately follow the Band & Chorus.

7:00 - 9:00 PM; Artwork

Public Showing, TMHS Cafeteria
Saturday, May 14, 2016
10:00 AM - 2:00 PM -- Artwork Public Showing, TMHS Cafeteria

Ribbons will be awarded to all participants, with one work judged "Best of Show" from each building. Up to six "Honorable Mention" awards will be awarded by each secondary and elementary specialist. A "Best of Show" ribbon will be awarded to each of the seven schools in the system.

Awards will be made in the following categories:

Pottery, Photography, Pen and Ink, Painting, Pastels, Pencil, Assemblage, Sculpture, Graphics, Calligraphy, Marker, Mixed Media, Crayons, and Tech Media.

Again this year, a Spring Band Concert Performance will be held in conjunction with the Art Exhibit. On Friday, May 13th, our TPS musicians, under the direction of Ms. Heather Ware, will perform in the High School Auditorium.

Concert performance begins at 6:30 pm with open mic to follow immediately for all students.

All parents and members of the Tewksbury community are invited to attend the musical performance and the exhibit.

It is our annual showcase for the many talented students throughout the district, and we expect this exhibit to match or exceed the high standards set by previous exhibits.

For further information, contact: Curriculum and Instruction Office, Tewksbury Public Schools, 139 Pleasant Street, Tewksbury, MA 01876 (978) 640-7800 (office), (978) 640-7804 (fax).

Sixth Annual Kim Forte Memorial Road Race

Almost 400 people help raise $11,000

By BRENDAN FOLEY
Sports Correspondent

brendanmfoley@outlook.com
WILMINGTON- Close to 400 people packed onto the Town Common to enjoy the sixth annual We're One Wilmington (WOW) 5K Run for Wilmington/Memorial Walk for Kim Forte.

Those participants were rewarded with the first true day of spring, as bright blue skies and a warm sun kept shining as the massive crowds raced or walked across the finish line.

And once again the event was a complete success with an estimated $11,000 raised.

The race was won by Joseph Barrett of Billerica, finishing with a time of 18:55. It was his third time running in the event, and his first time winning.

"It's a flat course with a nice kick to the finish," Barrett said. "Usually I run the course in 18 minutes flat, but I was a little bit off today. I run a lot of races in the area, and this race is especially fun."

Finishing only seconds behind Barrett was Wilmington-native William Tammaro, closing with a time of 19:00. The top male finishers after Tammaro were Benjamin Packer (20:30), Nick Ciaramella (20:36), Aidan McGrath (20:41), Kevin Ronayne (21:01), Dan Dugan (21:22), Joey Dynan (21:24), Tom Baillie (21:50), and Jay Shdeed (21:54).

The highest placing female runner was Wilmington-native Savannah Hubbard, who placed sixth overall with a time of 20:44.

The other female runners after Hubbard were Carmela Taveras (21:31), Kim Doherty (21:36), Sarah McVey (22:02), Jessica Stryhalaleck (22:30), Hannah Holman (22:38), Melissa Goldstein (23:04), Ann Domigan (23:54), Francesca Peasants (24:07), and Lindsay Metcalfe (24:14).

But even for people who finished outside the top ten, or who did not merit a medal in their age category, the race was still filled with rewards. Families raced every mile together, or split up in the crowd to see who could come out on top.

"My kids wanted to come out today," said Charles Bourgeois, who ran with his children Jake, 10, and Maggie, 12. "It was a great show, and it was pretty easy to do. It's a great town and a great community."

Libby Kun attended the race with her husband, Keith, their young daughter pushed through the course in a stroller.

"I just love the community spirit, and the turnout coming out to support Kim Forte's family and her memory," Kun said. "It's nice to have our whole family her."

This family atmosphere is exactly what race director Joe Martiniello and the rest of WOW have hoped to cultivate over the six years of the race's existence.

"The race is still filled with families," Martiniello said. "It attracts the whole spectrum of demographics, from old to young."

Another major factor in the race's ongoing steady popularity is the presence of the local running club, the Sole Sisters. The Sisters are a fixture at local races, and they were out in full force during the Kim Forte race.

"Some of them went for a run before the road race, then they ran the road race, and then some of them went for a run right after," Martiniello said. "It was just part of their training for the day, so we're really thankful for that kind of commitment to the race. They didn't have to stop and do the road race before going off to do their training. It shows a real commitment."

Martiniello is grateful for all this support, as it means that WOW can keep doing the charitable works and scholarship programs they are known for. This year even saw WOW host a book drive in conjunction with the race, acquiring a great number of donated books.

Martiniello estimates that they will have raised around $11,000 thanks to the race and walk.

And for still others, the race still retains far more personal value. For Lou Forte and those who take to the streets in commemoration of the memory of Kim Forte, the 5K is an annual chance to join together with hundreds of other people, local and non-local, to celebrate the memory of a person whose spirit continues to inspire so much good.

"Kim touched many people along the way," Lou Forte told the crowd. "She was a natural at helping, sharing her love with all whose path she crossed. Just with her smile, she offered love, motivation, and inspiration. Amazing how many people have told me so many times that Kim's smile made their day. A small gesture, but a big impact."

For additional stories on the top male and female winners, as well as complete results, please see SP 2-3 and 5W.

Tammaro the top Wilmington Male Finisher

Former Hockey player sticks to a winning plan

If you had asked him years ago, William Tammaro would have been astonished to learn that distance running would be the sport that kept him up and kept him moving. Originally only pursuing the activity as a means to stay in shape before hockey season in high school. But years later, Tammaro is still running.

And he's doing so well at it that Tammaro came only seconds away from claiming first place in the annual We're One Wilmington Race/Kim Forte Walk on Sunday.

With many road races, there will be a clear winner who can be as much as a full minute ahead of the nearest competition. But Tammaro and Joseph Bennett headed into the final stretch of the 5K in a dead-sprint, Bennett finishing only five seconds ahead of Tammaro.

Tammaro is proud of his 19:00 finish, but he does kick himself over the little errors that may have cost him the win.

"I was a little disappointed that I went out too fast," Tammaro said. "I think if I had run my race and not gone out so fast, I could have caught him at the end. I tried to give it a last second effort there, but he was too fast."

Still, it is remarkable that Tammaro is even able to hit the pavement at all. When a student at Catholic Memorial, Tammaro's bread and butter was hockey, and he only adopted cross country track into his athletic course because the coaches encouraged it as a means to stay in shape off season.

"I signed up for cross country without even knowing what it was," Tammaro said. "And here I am still running whenever I get a chance."

Tammaro has kept right on running, even when the world piles up complications. He has two young children and works as a nurse at Mass General Hospital in Waltham. But he builds the time into his schedule to keep his passion going, including using the time between getting out of work and picking up his children to get in his training miles.

"I have two young kids so it can be hard to get out there, but I try to get out there as much as I can," he said.

And Tammaro has no intention of slowing down. At the end of May, he will be heading into Boston for a five-mile run. And he has hopes of making the leap to either a half marathon or a full marathon in the fall.

But for Sunday morning, he was happy to bask in the glow of a strong run, surrounded by his friends and family and the community at large.

"Being from Wilmington, this is special," Tammaro said. "It is special to be out here and see our community like this. I have two young kids here, and it's nice for them to be out here and seeing the town out in force like this."

Above, The top male finisher from Wilmington was William Tammaro, who finished second overall; and below, Former WHS Cross-Country and Track star and current Emerson College runner Savannah Hubbard, is all smiles after learning she was the top female finisher from Wilmington.

Familiar face (runner), Hubbard takes top billing on female side

WILMINGTON- For some folks, a 5K race is all the running they can stand, but Savannah Hubbard views major events like the We're One Wilmington Race/Kim Forte Walk as a stepping stone to even bigger challenges.

Hubbard, the highest placing female runner for the day with a final time of 20:44, ran cross country at Wilmington High School and continues to run it while a junior at Emerson College, and yet she keeps pushing herself to higher and higher peaks.

"Right now, I'm training for a marathon so I wanted some race in between so I could test my speed," Hubbard said. "And I wanted to give it my best knowing that I was going to be good because I've been training."

Hubbard plans on traveling to Vermont for the Vermont City Marathon in late May. It will be her third marathon.

She has accomplished a remarkable list of accomplishments in such a short period of time, and that's before considering the accolades that Hubbard racked up while competing for Wilmington High School, from which she graduated in 2013. Competing in events like the 400 meter hurdles, 100 meter hurdles, and the triple jump, Hubbard displayed a wide range of athletic abilities.

She has only gotten stronger and sharper with time, thanks in large part to a dedicated training program that covers everything from short runs, long runs, and even extended bike rides.

"For marathons, I have five days a week where I run," she said. "Depending on the day it's between four and seven miles, and then on the weekend I will have one long run that will eventually go up to 20 miles."

For all that Hubbard has accomplished, and for all that she still hopes to do, there is a flavor to local races that is unmatched in any other competition.

"Last week I ran the B.A.A. 5K in Boston and it was ten thousand participants. So coming back to see friendly faces is just really great," Hubbard said. "It's a community. I know the streets, and I know the routes, and I know the people on the sidelines. It's a lot of fun."

Tennis teams enjoying new gorgeous courts

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com
WILMINGTON -- For the past several years the Boys and Girls Tennis teams at Wilmington have been playing without a true home court advantage. Since approximately 2006, both teams have played their home matches and conducted their practices on the courts of the Textron Corporation on Lowell Street in Wilmington.

And while the teams and the school were most appreciative of the hospitality of being able to use the Textron Courts, and while the Textron Courts were certainly very well maintained and more than adequate for hosting matches and practices, they simply weren't home. Players and coaches would have to find their way from the Wilmington High campus to Textron for their daily practices, or worse yet, they would have to travel a short distance even for their home matches.

That has all changed this season. With the construction of the new Wilmington High School, and the new tennis courts to go with it, the teams can now truly boast of a home court advantage. It is not just any home court advantage either, as the courts at the new high school are some of the finest, most state of the art courts in all of the Middlesex League.

Wildcats coaches Matt Hackett of the Girls team and Rob Mailey of the Boys squad have raved about the new courts and what they mean to their players and to their programs.

"It's been a huge difference. I don't think teams have played at Wilmington High School since 2006, so this is a real nice change for the kids," Hackett said. "Being back at the high school is helpful on so many levels. Even little things like the time saved not commuting after school, which allows us to have longer practices is huge for us."

Wildcats Boys coach Rob Mailey concurs, adding "It adds practice time for us and it is nice to have our courts right in our back yard. I know the kids really appreciate it."

Beyond obvious tangible benefits like increased practice time, the new courts provide some intangibles that the Wildcats have not been able to enjoy in recent years. "I think the most important thing is feeling like part of the high school atmosphere again," Hackett said. "When we had our first home match it was great to have people stop by and watch our match and have the support of the school. It's the same thing even during practice. When we are practicing at the school with the other teams and hearing the other practices going on and being part of the whole school community, it is a much different feeling for the kids."

Mailey and his players have truly enjoyed having actual home matches this season. And while the results have not yet gone their way on the new home courts, Mailey knows the courts will pay dividends as the season goes on.

"It has been great to be able to play on the new courts," Mailey said. "Our first match at the new courts against Melrose was great. Unfortunately we lost, but the kids were so excited to play there. It was very nice for the kids to actually be at home. We are going to keep working on actually making it a home court advantage."

Simply having any courts would be a great change for the Wildcats, but making it even better for both teams is just how nice these new courts are, from their appearance to the amenities that make them so user friendly.

"They are gorgeous courts. I even like the colors they picked out for the courts," Hackett said. "They are very well done. It seems like they thought of everything, even little things like having three different doors to get on the courts and not having to cross over each other. Just little things like that make a big difference and have been so great for us."

Mailey is also most appreciative of the new facilities.

"I really want to thank everybody responsible for us having these new courts," Mailey said. "It has been really great for us, and I am sure we will continue to enjoy the court for years to come."

The 10th annual Wildcat Tennis Clinic (June session) will run from June 27 - July 1 from 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the new high school tennis courts.

The clinic is a developmental and support program for those who intend to play high school tennis or for anyone looking to learn great game of tennis.

Supported by the Friends of Wilmington Tennis, the clinic's head instructor is Wildcat Girls Tennis Coach Matt Hackett. Current Wildcat varsity players will assist Coach Hackett with instruction and demonstrations.

The cost of the clinic is $150 per player, and includes a free gift, guaranteed fun, and fundamental to advanced instruction.

Participants entering grades six through nine are invited to register. We welcome players of all skill levels. Space is limited to 12 participants, and fills up fast. For registration information, please contact the Friends of Wilmington Tennis at friendsWT@verizon.net, or 978.658.8987.

Check out the Friends' website at www.wilmingtontennis.org for more information on local tennis. See you on the courts!

Baseball and Softball teams get back to winning ways

WILMINGTON -- The

Wilmington High School Baseball team snapped a two-game losing streak and defeated the first-place Wakefield Warriors by a 3-2 score during a key Middlesex League Freedom Division game held Monday afternoon at Scanlon Memorial Field.

Sophomore Danny Gracia picked up his second win in as many starts, going the distance giving up two earned runs on eight hits while walking one and striking out five. He stranded a runner on first base with two outs in the top of the seventh and got the Warriors' No. 4 hitter, Matt Mercurio, last year's league MVP, to fly out deep to left field where Justin Leger, made a nice catch moving to his right.

"This is a huge win," said Wilmington coach Aldo Caira. "Wakefield was 5-1 coming into this game and they were in first place in the league standings. It was nice for us to rebound after the two losses."

Gracia gave up single runs in the second and fifth innings. He once again pitched to contact getting 11 groundball outs. In the seventh, he gave up a lead-off single before a fly out, a fielder's choice ground out and then he got Mercurio to fly out to end the game. Previously he had two hits including a line drive double to left center.

"Danny did a great job once again of attacking the strike zone and he just went after the kid," said Caira. "We were able to get the bats going a little bit, when we needed to produce we did, and I thought we played pretty good defense today."

Wilmington scored two big runs in the bottom of the first. Matt Spurr singled in Jeff Kannally, and after Brian Cavanaugh reached on a fielder's choice groundout and moved to second on the rundown, he scored on a RBI single by Jackson Gillis. Gillis then drove in Cavanaugh with a line drive double to the right center gap in the bottom of the third for what proved to be the game winning hit. Gillis ended the day going 3-for-3.

"Yeah he broke out. He really crushed that double. We only had five hits but for us that's a lot," said Caira. "We are 3-3 now and we have a couple of winnable games coming up so we're hoping to finish the week out strong."

Earlier in the week, Wilmington was defeated by Melrose 4-2 and then by Belmont, 2-0, in a terrific pitcher's duel last Wednesday. Against Melrose, Matt Woods was the tough luck losing pitcher going six innings and giving up two earned runs, while he gave up nine hits, walked one and struck out seven. Offensively, Chris Greco and Danny Gracia had RBI hits. Brian Cavanaugh also added two hits.

In the loss to Belmont, it was a battle of two of the top pitchers in the state with Wilmington's Jackson Gillis and Belmont's Cole Bartels. Bartels was able to come away with the win as she struck out 15 batters on his way to a complete game one-hit shut out. Gillis was very strong, going five innings and striking out 11, walking two and giving up one unearned run. Cavanaugh had the lone hit in the game, a double in the fourth inning down the right field line.

SOFTBALL

After losing its first three games of the season, the Wilmington High School Softball team trounced Melrose 12-0 in a 5-inning slaughter rule game held at the Aprile Field on Friday morning. Shannon Horgan led the attack with a 2-for-3 day including a two-run home run, a two-run double, while she drew a bases loaded walk. All in all she drove in five runs.

She was asked about her approach during the home run, a solid line drive that split the left and center fielders. She now has three home runs this season.

"There were two strikes and I saw the change-up coming so I just waited on it. I could just tell it was coming from how slow it was," she said.

All in all Wilmington banged out nine hits, took advantage of four walks, a hitsbatmen and two infield errors.

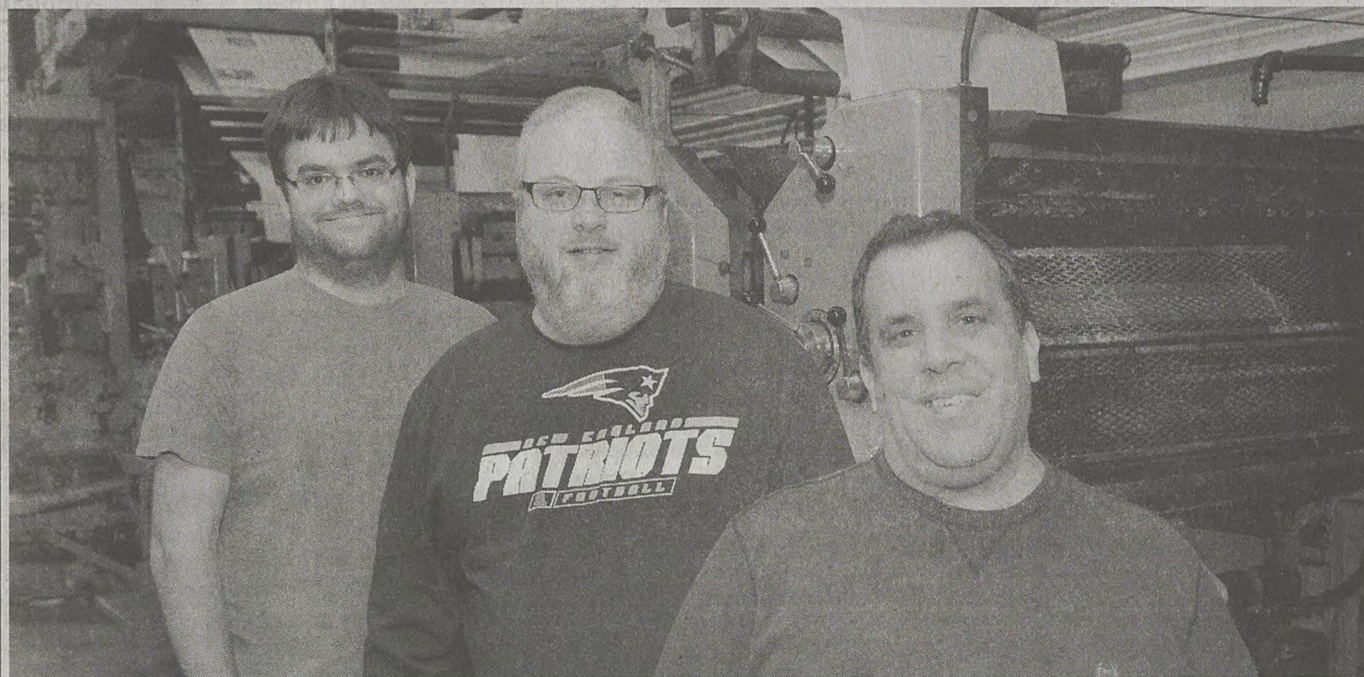

"Everyone was more supportive of each other today," said Horgan. "Everyone was talking and there was a lot more communication. And we got the bats going."

Brittany Garrard, Ally Moran, Antonia Kieran, Theresa Gracia and Jenn Dovidio also knocked in single runs. Moran was the winning pitcher as she went all five innings giving up an infield single, while she didn't walk a batter and she struck out eight.

Wilmington kept up its winning ways with a 9-8 victory over Wakefield on Monday. Dana Goulet pushed the 'Cats ahead with a three-run home run in the third inning to go up 3-2. After Wakefield tacked on two runs, Wilmington added five runs in the fifth inning, all with two outs to go up 8-4. Liz Gordon started the rally with a double, and that was followed by singles from Jen Dovidio and Dana Goulet, and then a triple from Shannon Horgan, a single by Makayla Donahue and a double by Antonia Kieran.

Wakefield made things interesting by scoring four runs in the top of the seventh to tie the game up at 8-8. Then in the bottom of the inning, Kieran doubled to right center, was moved to third on a groundout, before Adele Burton delivered the game winning walk-off single. She finished 3-for-4 with a stolen base, while Brittany Garrard added two sacrifices.

The #1 Sports Team in Tewksbury and Wilmington

The Town Crier Sports Department prides itself on being the best weekly sports section, not only in the two towns of Wilmington and Tewksbury, but in the entire state. No other weekly sports section covers every high school varsity athletic team like we do for WHS, TMHS and Shawsheen Tech. No other weekly newspaper covers local college and professional athletes like we do, as well as give coverage to road races, adult sports, and provide pages of youth sports in both towns every week.

The Town Crier provides accurate, insightful, and indepth coverage of all local teams and hard-working athletes every week, and has done so for the past five decades. The Sports Department of Jamie Pote, Mike Ippolito and Brendan Foley pride themselves on not only being the Sports Faces of both Wilmington and Tewksbury, but telling great stories about the athletes of these two terrific towns.

Wilmington Youth Lacrosse Round-Up

The Wilmington U9 Boys Lacrosse team continued with another great win on Sunday in Somerville. With a 9-0 win, the team brought their season to a 3-0 record. Due to school vacation week and injury, there was a limited available bench. With longer shifts than normal, the players played well, played hard, and exhibited good sportsmanship late in the second half.

The credit for the shutout goes to Luke Cushing, who made multiple saves, late in game as Somerville revamped their offense. Camden Gray and Ryan Flynn played a majority of the game as middies, with a focus on the defensive area to keep the opponent scoreless.

Offensively, Wilmington was difficult to slow down. Justin Thibert and Jack Martins got the scoring started midway through the first half. Thomas Pote and Gus Lambert assisted on the early goals. Chase Heffernan and Colin Allard poured it on late in the first half, with one goal each.

In the second half, the team agreed to change to three pass attempts prior to a shot. Ryan Lavorato, Jonathan Stokes, and Justin Thibert continued the offensive assault.

U13 Boys Blue

The Wilmington U13 Blue team defeated Somerville 9-1 on Sunday. Among the scorers were Jacob Martins, Brian Duggan, Dylan Timmons, Jack Malloy, James Ward, and Gavin Erickson who each contributed at least one goal on the day.

Defensively, the Wildcats were solid, giving up only one goal in game. Keegan Gray was a brick wall in net the whole game. The defense was led by goalie Keegan Gray and defensemen Jack Malloy, James Ward, and Hugh Murphy.

The Wildcats went into the game a bit undermanned with players away for school vacation but, they stayed positive and played hard. The teams attack line of Liam Crowley, Jake Perry, and Ryan Murray set the pace of the game for a win against Somerville.

The team's middle line consisted of Gavin Erickson, Dylan Timmons and Jacob Martins as well as Michael Walsh, Derek Maguire, Brian Duggan and Nick Ackerman who all made solid contributions offensively, defensively and in faceoff and ground ball situations.

Wilmington U13 Blue plays Medford at home this Sunday.

Rams Softball team wins a wild one against Northeast

By MIKE IPPOLITO
Sports Correspondent

sports@yourtowncrier.com

It was a busy week for the Shawsheen Tech Softball team with some mixed results, as the Lady Rams battled their way to a 2-2 record, winning their first two games of the week, before dropping a couple of heartbreakers to end their week.

Shawsheen kicked things off with a 9-7 win over CAC rival Northeast Metro Tech last Tuesday in Wakefield. The Lady Rams scored six runs in the final three innings of the contest after trailing 4-3 through four innings to come away with the win, being led offensively by freshman Bella Richard, who was 3-for-4 with a three run home run and a double, along with sophomore Katelyn Logue, who also had three hit, including a double, and senior captain Katie Stevens of Wilmington, who had two hits of her own, along with a run scored. Shawsheen had 13 hits overall.

Shawsheen (2-4) trailed 4-3 after four innings before scoring four times in the fourth and twice more in the fight to take a 9-4 lead before Northeast fought back with two runs in the sixth inning and one in the seventh.

Sophomore pitcher Brooke Arena got the win for the Lady Rams, allowing four runs on eight hits, while Marissa Brangiforte picked up the save, pitching the final three innings.

"It was a back and forth game pretty much all the way through," Shawsheen coach Scott Ialuna said. "There was no quite in Northeast, though. They made it interesting, but we were able to hold them off."

It was late inning heroics once again that led Shawsheen to a 4-3 victory on Wednesday over non-league rival Whitinsville-Christian in another road game, a win which evened their record at the time at 2-2.

This time it was a seventh inning rally that led Shawsheen to victory. Logue and Katie Welch got things started for the Lady Rams, who trailed 3-2 entering the seventh, with back to back singles to give Shawsheen runners at first and second with nobody out.

After the next two batters were retired, Shawsheen senior captain Lauren Barletta ripped a double to score Welch and send Logue to third, while she cruised into second. An infield single by Richard scored Logue to give Shawsheen the lead before Brangiforte shut down Whitinsville in the bottom of the inning to get the win after pitching two scoreless innings in relief of sophomore Cassidy Trovato, who had allowed three runs and four hits in five innings of work.

"That was an absolutely crazy game," Ialuna said. "Kassidy did a real good job and Marissa did a nice job in relief. And Lauren stepped up big time for us in the seventh. That was a huge hit and obviously we don't win without it."

Ialuna was also impressed with the offensive efforts he got in both games from a pair of his younger players, with Richard and Logue both stepping up with multi-hit games.

"Bella is a player who has some really good instincts for the game and she has shown it right from the start," Ialuna said. "We saw some of the plays she made in scrimmages and it caught our attention and we realized we had to find a way to get her on the field and she has done well. She had a good week, and the fact that she is doing this as a freshman speaks volumes about her."

Ialuna was equally effusive in his praise of Logue.

"Katelyn has done a nice job stepping up for us as a DH," Ialuna said. "She swings a heavy bat and she makes really good contact on her hits. It is great to have the two of them get it going the way they have, especially as a couple of our younger players."

The Lady Rams continued to get great pitching in their next two games from Arena and Trovato, but their offense abandoned them, as they dropped a pair of tough decisions, a 4-1 loss to Mystic Valley last Friday and a 2-1 heartbreaker to Notre Dame on Monday.

Arena allowed only four hits in the loss to Mystic, while the Lady Rams banded out ten hits, but they could not string enough together to topple their opponents.

In the loss to Notre Dame, the Lady Rams were once again doomed by a lack of timely hitting. Shawsheen led 1-0 in the top of the sixth before an infield error on a pop up allowed to Notre Dame runners to score to give them a 2-1 lead. Still, however, the Lady Rams had chances to tie or take the lead in both the sixth and seventh innings, with multiple runners on base in each inning.

"We just came up a little short in both games," Ialuna said. "We hit the ball pretty well, but we jut could not get the big hit when we needed it."

GIRLS LACROSSE

The result was the same for the Shawsheen Tech Girls Lacrosse team in each of their games this past week, as lost both contests to drop their record on the season to 2-4. But while the results of each game were the same, the way the Lady Rams got to each result was fair different in each contest, as they lost 15-4 to Manchester Essex on Saturday in a disappointing effort, before bouncing back with a very strong game on Monday, despite falling by a score of 11-6 to Haverhill.

In the Manchester game, the Lady Rams got a pair of goals from senior captain Kerrie Malloy of Tewksbury, and one goal each from senior Kim Hayes and sophomore Erin Mader to of Tewksbury, for the first goal of her varsity career.

Sophomore Jess Shepherd made six saves in net for the Lady Rams.

"Manchester Essex was a disappointing game. It was a poor display of our team, how we play, and what we stand for," Shawsheen coach Alex O'Reilly said. "Unfortunately we just did not show up in the right mindset to take on an uphill battle."

Shawsheen's effort against Haverhill on Monday was much more of what O'Reilly was looking for, but unfortunately the results were the same, as the Lady Rams fell by a score of 11-6, despite goals from Elianna Purtell, Catherine McKenna and Michelle Farraher of Tewksbury.

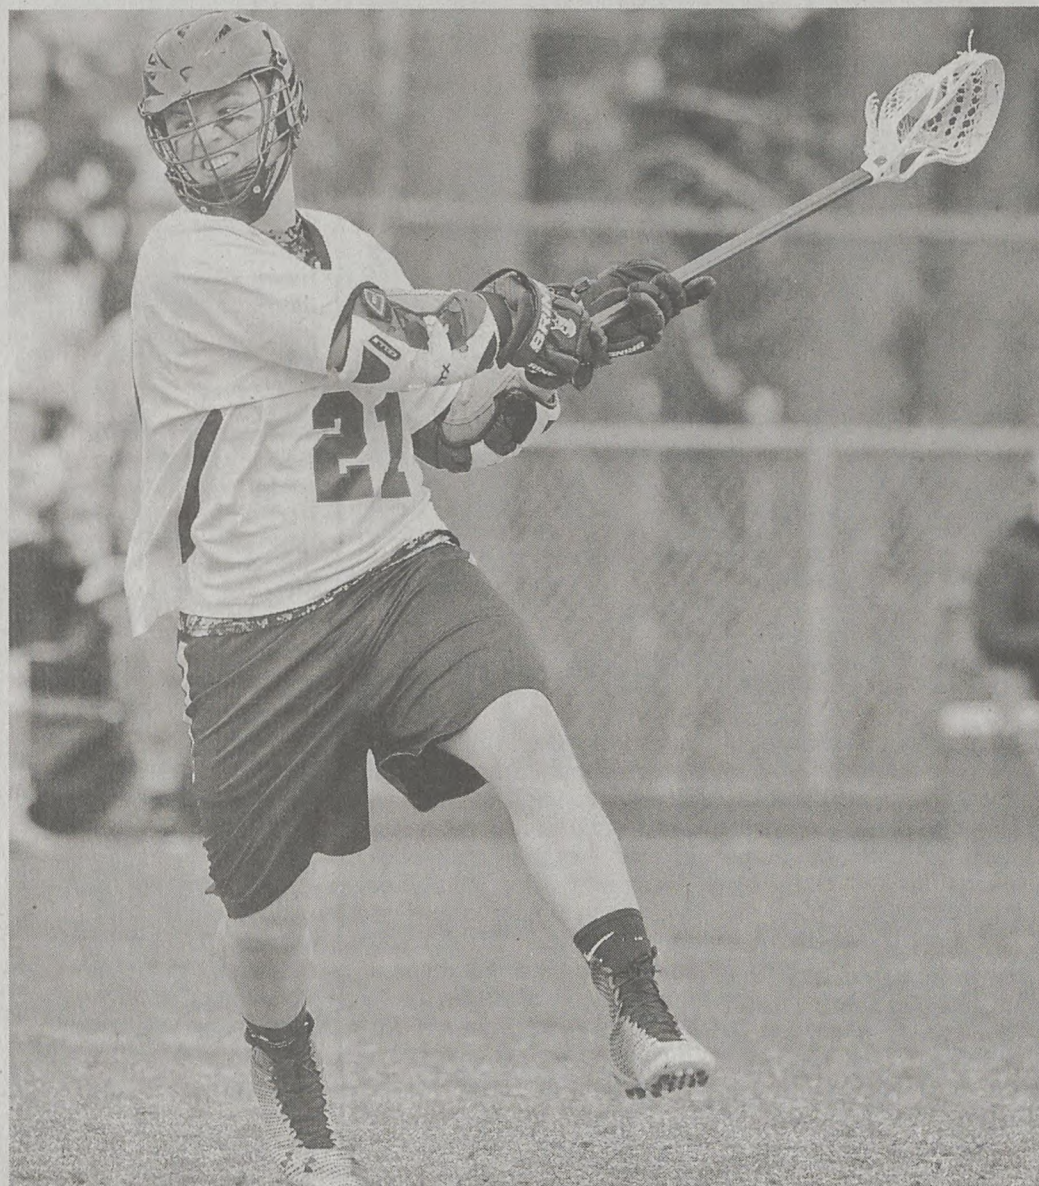

Shawsheen started off much better in this one, gaining possession off the first draw, settling down the play, and controlling ball movement before Purtell made a beautiful backdoor feed to Malloy to give the Lady Rams a quick 1-0 lead over the Hillies.

Haverhill, however, wasn't going down without a fight, as they answered within seconds tying it up 1-1. The Hillies would add two more goals in the next five minute to take a 3-1 lead before Catherine McKenna of Tewksbury scored ten minutes into the half to pull the Lady Rams within 3-2.

Unfortunately for Shawsheen, that was as good as it would get in the first half, as Haverhill scored the next six goals to take a 9-2 lead into the half.

"At halftime we discussed how important it is to play with passion and never lose sight of our goals. We were not going to fall to Haverhill without leaving our hearts on the field," O'Reilly said.

"McKenna got the Lady Rams going quickly after intermission, scoring just one minute into the second half. Senior Nicole Kopacz of Tewksbury scored a few minutes later with a free position shot, and shortly thereafter McKenna added Shawsheen Tech's Will Bouley winds up for a shot during Monday's Boys Varsity Lacrosse game played at home.

another one to 9-5. Shawsheen was not done, however, as midway through the half, Farraher got Shawsheen on the board again to make it 9-6. Farraher intercepted the Haverhill goalie's clear attempt, passed to McKenna as she cut back to the net, and McKenna fed it right back to her resulting in a beautiful goal.

That was as close as Shawsheen would get, however, as Haverhill scored the final two goals of the game for the 11-6 final.

"We played the majority of the game on offense. Unfortunately the score doesn't reflect that," O'Reilly said. "Haverhill has an extremely talented goalie. She saved two thirds of the shots we took on her. She had 11 saves and six goals against."

Despite the loss, O'Reilly felt that several of her players stepped up and played very well against their talented opponents.

"Sarah Constantino played exceptionally for us on defense. She is the most disciplined player who does her job from the moment we lose possession to the moment we force another turnover," O'Reilly said. "Defense as a whole was on their A-game especially in the second half due to their communication with each other and intensity."

"I always tell my team that I don't care as much about the end result, the score, as I do about the performance that got them there. If they play like we practice, have passion, intensity, and disciplined positioning then we win in my book. We played our game for the whole game against a very strong opponent and at the end of the day I was a proud coach."

BOYS LACROSSE

The Shawsheen Boys Lacrosse team had just one game this past week, but they certainly made the most of their limited action, pulling out a dramatic 16-15 win over defending CAC champion Mystic Valley on Monday at Shawsheen.

Shawsheen senior attack Zach DeLuca scored the game-winner with 1:50 left in regulation to give the Rams the win, part of an outstanding overall game for DeLuca, who had four goals and an assist on the day.

The Rams were in control, or at least in the lead for most of the game, leading 8-7 at the half and 14-9 at the end of the third quarter, but they could not shake their

"We were ahead the entire game pretty much. We went up by a few at times and they would storm back due to man down situations mainly on phantom calls. They tied the game at 15-15 with about two minutes remaining and we won the draw and got the ball to Zach, who was able to finish with a great shot into the top right corner," Shawsheen coach Chuck Baker said. Shawsheen sophomore goalie Chris Abele of Wilmington, who had an outstanding game with 15 saves, allowed the Rams to maintain possession after making a big save with under a minute left. Shawsheen controlled the ball for the final 40 seconds of the game to seal the victory.

"This was a great win and puts us at the top of the CAC early on," Baker said.

Baker was very happy with not only DeLuca's game winner, but his play throughout the game.

"Zach played great on the wing attack. He has a great shot from the position," Baker said. "They tried to lock down some of our players who had big games in the first game. Zach stepped it up and had some great finishes."

Freshman attack Owen Sullivan had a hat trick for the Rams, while Jack Stone of Tewksbury, Jacob Sinclair-Steeves, Jay Colletti and Will Bouley each had two goals.

"It is awesome to have the scoring spread out," Baker said. "We did a great job on the fast break and unsettled situations. We took advantage and cashed when we had the opportunities."

Freshman Ryan Quinones also got on the board for the netting his first career varsity goal with a second quarter tally.

"Ryan has been working hard as a freshman and we needed to call on him yesterday," Baker said. "He has a bright future here."

Monday's win was the second time this season the Rams have beaten defending league champion Mystic in a thriller, having beaten them 18-17 in their season opener before taking yesterday's nail biter. It is obviously very early, but the early season wins do give the Rams the early inside track to the CAC title.

"It is a good start, but we have a ton of games remaining and can't get overconfident. We just need to work hard and continue to get better as a team," Baker said. "If we do this and take the season game by game, we onship. But we can't afford any hiccups along the way."

BASEBALL

The Shawsheen Baseball team went 2-1 this past week, improving to 5-2 on the season, getting a pair of CAC wins, while suffering a non-league loss, as they seek to win their third straight CAC title. The Rams picked up CAC victories over Whittier on Thursday by a score of 4-0 and over Mystic Valley on Friday by a score of 11-9, giving them four straight wins overall before their win streak was snapped on Monday in a 16-11 loss to non-league rival Weston.

In the win over Whittier, the Rams were led by an outstanding pitching performance by junior lefty Leo Frisella of Tewksbury, who allowed just one hit over six innings of work while striking out four batters to get the win. It was the second consecutive strong start for Frisella, who along with fellow Tewksbury native Alex Tate, has been outstanding on the mound for the Rams this season.

"We got a great effort from Leo that day against Whittier. He was stellar shutting down the Whittier offense. He pitched efficiently, getting outs using the solid defense behind him, hitting his spots and using his pitches to his advantage," Shawsheen coach Brian McCarthy said.

"We were hoping Leo would be able to come up for us this year and be a solid number three starter, but Leo has done a heck of a lot more than that. He is pitching in big-time games and getting us some good wins. He's been working hard this year, and it's paying off for him and the team. We're excited to have him and every time he takes the mound, we know he's going to give it his all and we'll get his best effort."

The Rams had gotten off to a good start in this one, when senior leadoff hitter Brendan O'Flaherty of Wilmington crushed the first pitch he saw in the bottom of the first inning for a home run.

"O'Flaherty has been doing a terrific job in the lead-off spot for our team for 3 years now. He is the catalyst that puts our offense in motion," McCarthy said. "He is constantly on-base and scoring runs. But in a big time league game against Whittier, to set the tone with a first pitch, first inning home run was awesome. We fed off that and played a great game that day."

Shawsheen also got a big game from senior catcher Evan Boczenowski, who was 2-for-3 with two RBI's and senior first baseman Tyler Boutwell, who was 1-for-2 with a run scored.

The Rams bats were alive once again the next day in their 11-9 win over Mystic Valley Boczenowski once again had a big day at the plate, with a two run double and two runs scored. Boczenowski's offensive prowess, coupled with his defensive ability, which was on display when he threw out a would be base stealer in the Whittier game, have been a welcome addition for the Rams this season, after losing their captain and three time All-Star catcher Tim Lavoie to graduation.

"Evan has been an awesome addition to our team this year. He is a great athlete who has been a utility player thus far in his high school career. We didn't quite know going into the season where he would end up, but we knew he could play," McCarthy said. "And now, to get this type of production out of him as our full-time catcher, both offensively and defensively, has been great. He's been pounding the ball at the plate, raking up RBI and runs scored, and defensively, he is keeping the pitching staff in control and keeping runners at bay for the opposing team. As a coach, I couldn't ask for anything more. He is a hard worker, and does whatever we ask of him."

Sophomore pitcher Sean Flagg got the win on the mound for the Rams against Mystic, striking out six batters in 5 1/3 innings.

"Sean did another great job for us on the road at Mystic for a night game to end vacation week," McCarthy said. "With Dan McCrehan battling back from a shoulder injury, we were looking for another pitcher to step up and be a reliable starter for us, and Flagg has done just that. He kept the Mystic hitters off-balance for most of the night, and gave our hitters time to get the offense in gear and score some runs for us. He is only a sophomore, but he pitches with a lot of confidence and he has done a great job to this point in the season."

O'Flaherty, Aaron Bennett and Craig Rich each had a hit and scored two runs, joining Boczenowski in the offensive onslaught.

"We are definitely a more balanced team this year. We don't need for one kid to do it all, and that's a good thing," McCarthy said. "We have hitters one through nine that can hit and have the potential to have a big game. Everybody has been chipping in and stepping up when their number is called."

CO-ED TENNIS

The Shawsheen Co-Ed Tennis team is 1-4 on the season to this point but Rams coach J.P. Borriello is confident that the wins will soon start to come as his team gets more and more experience.

"We have a lot of new freshmen and hope to see a lot of improvement from the young team in the up and coming meets," Borriello said.

The Rams got their only win of the season back on April 13, in a 4-3 victory over Greater Lawrence. Winners for the Rams on the day were each of the Rams singles players, led junior Duncan Baron in first singles, along with No. 2, freshman Adam Hines, No. 3, junior Dave DeLuca and No. 4, sophomore Andrek Godoy.

The Rams then suffered a 4-3 loss the next day to Fellowship, with Hines, DeLuca and Godoy getting the Rams wins.

In their most recent match, the Rams fell by a score of 6-1 to Greater Lawrence on Monday, with Baron picking up the Rams' only win of the day in first singles.

Red Bulls and Galaxy match up in an exciting first grade soccer game

Boys Grade 1
New York Red Bulls
vs. LA Galaxy

The air was full of excitement, as the much-anticipated match between New York Red Bulls and L.A. Galaxy commenced. Fantastic ball skills were displayed by Nicholas Melaragni and Rafael Hernandez Osorno resulting in goals by Preston Hunt and Chase O'Brien.

The midfield and defensive play of Zachary Atwater, Rafael Hernandez Osorno and Preston Hunt kept the New York Red Bulls in excellent shape. The crowd roared to their feet when Nicholas Melaragni, Zachary Atwater and Chase O'Brien made some spectacular saves.

NE Revolution
vs. Seattle Sounders

What a fabulous day it turned out to be as the NE Revolution took on the Seattle Sounders. From the opening whistle, non stop action up and down the field, as Seattle pressured the tough Revolution defense led by Nate Anderson and Kyle Price.

The flanks manned by the tough duo of Ethan Lydon and James Savoie created opportunities for the front team of Cameron Molina and Fernando Gunera.

Columbus Crew
vs. Houston Dynamo

In what could have been confused as a World Cup Match, the Columbus Crew had multiple goals scored by Jack Cronin, Jonathan Malley and Dillan Roberts. This was coupled with steel like defense from Theo Bryson. The Crew's efforts made for an incredible game that left the crowd cheering for more.

Chicago Fire vs. DC United

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen fields for this back and forth game. Joseph Mytych got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Gavin Porier led the scoring charge, while the great defensive effort of Jake Driscoll kept the action going

Girls Grade 1
Boston Breakers
vs. Western NY Flash

The rain was coming down like cats and dogs but nobody stayed home for this action packed game against the Boston Breakers and the Western NY Flash. The Breakers Heidi Ferrer, Megan Smith, Abigail Engvaldsen and Emma Nolan scored, getting the crowd jumping out of their seats.

Outstanding offense by Isabel Carriere set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Ellie Gouthro and Leah Hannafin provided great protection for our Goal.

Top-notch play keep fans watching this one. Excellent offensive plays by the Flash's Ruby Poulo and Gabby Carriglio applied heavy pressure which kept the Boston Breakers on their heels. Midfield positioning by Amy Keohane, Angelina Vo and Kalea Lamb fended off any threat that came thru making it tough on the Breakers. Defensive positioning by Emma Tarin and Celina Vo, cleared balls out of the Flash's zone and kept the game with the Breakers tight.

Girls Grade 2
Chicago Red Stars
vs. Boston Breakers

The Boston Breakers would not back down from this back and forth match. Goals by Nicole Gallucci brought the crowd to a frenzy. A spectacular display of defensive skills was shown by Macy Savage, Srilasya Mallajosyula and Lindsay Broussard. In addition the midfield play of Emma Chirichiello, Skylar Nguyen, Cara Digiovanni and Isabella Zaya kept constant pressure on the opponents net. Timely saves by Lilly Abbott and Casey Kelley helped strengthen a solid team effort.

Western NY Flash
vs. Washington Spirit

The Washington Spirit was also impressive on the offensive side of the ball with great skill being displayed by Jessica Lefave and Maeve White leading to goals by Cate MacDonald. The defense showcased their skills today with Maddie Grylik and Ava Thibert keeping the ball out of their zone for much of the game; while the goal keeping team of Lily McLaughlin and Kristal Wells made this game close.

Boys Grade 2
NE Revolution
vs. Chicago Fire

Nobody stayed home for this action packed game. The New England Revolution's Joseph Glaser, JR Haggerty and Isaac Tavares scored, getting the crowd jumping out of their seats. Outstanding offense by Nick Spinosa, Ethan Briggs and Will Poyant set up many scoring chances. The flawless defense of Ryan Belanger and Timmy Watson provided great protection for the goalkeepers.

While both Owen Fitzpatrick and Cameron Pereira are sidelined with ankle injuries, the Revolution played well together displaying great passing and executed the game plan. All players thanked the Chicago Fire for a well fought match on the Shawsheen pitch.

Girls Kinders
Orlando Pride
vs. Washington Spirit

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen fields this week despite the rainy conditions for this back and forth game. The Orlando Pride led by Caroline Broussard, Kaia Donn and Julia Zaya got the crowd jumping out of their seats as they led the scoring charge and put forth a great defensive effort.

Houston Dash vs. Thorns

Nobody stayed home for this action packed game. The Houston Dash's Lila Rosa and Sara Keck scored, getting the crowd jumping out of their seats. Outstanding offense by Madison Scanlon and Chloe Stryhalaleck set up many scoring chances.

The flawless defense of Julia Marra and Sophia Kulsa provided great protection. Meanwhile, Elizabeth Gray cheered on her teammates while recovering from an injury.

Boys Kinders:
Chicago Fire
vs. NE Revolution

The crowds gathered at the Shawsheen fields for this back and forth game. The Chicago Fire, led by Damiano DiCenso & Caden Merritt got the crowd jumping out of their seats. Lucas Pereira, Mark Cataldo and Nathan DiSchino led the scoring charge, while the great defensive effort of Austin O'Connell and Braeden Vanisky kept the action going.

The all-around effort by all players was fun to watch in only their second match playing together.

Royals and Astros meet up on the Diamond

Farm League Baseball Royals vs Astros

The Astros had another strong game with contributions from everyone. Isaac Tavares, Evan Cummings, Mikey Taylor, Connor Sullivan, Roman DiZoglio, Ryan Gray, Erin McCarthy, James Passerini, Justin Fricia, Dylan Alexander, and Quinn Stockman all had hits (many of them shots). Alexander and Sullivan each struck out two on the mound while Kevin Pruslin and Chris DeFilippo were among many that played great defense.

For the Royals, J.R. Haggerty pitched well. Luke Cushing doubled and Jack Martinson, Ronny Jordan, and Logan Zimmer each had multiple hits. Jordan made a great play in the field.

Major League Baseball Orioles 14, Red Sox 6

The Orioles got their first win of the major league season with a win over the Red Sox. An eight run fourth inning was the difference for the Orioles. Hitters for the birds included, Patrick Callahan and Tommy Mallinson with three hits, Dom Gabardi, Dillon Bloom, and Luke Murphy with two hits, and Hayden Kane, Matt DeSario, Johnny Velozo, and Colin Sainato all with hits. Dom Gabardi and Dan Passerini did the pitching for the Orioles, striking out 12 Red Sox.

Jason Davey hit his first home run of the season for the Red Sox. Garret Moretto, with two hits, and Sofia Scalfani, also had hits for the Red Sox. Liam Fagan, Garet Moretto, and Sofia Scalfani did the pitching for the Red Sox striking out eight.

Max Todisco did a great job behind the plate for the Red Sox. Ella Cedrone also made a great catch in left field for the Red Sox.

Twins 3, Yankees 2

The Twins defeated the Sonny's Mobil Yankees 3-2 in an early season pitcher's duel. Patrick Stokes, Johnny Rhind, and Joey Dynan led the way for the Twins on the mound, allowing a combined five hits while striking out eight.

Riley Fitzgerald pitched a complete game, in defeat, for the Yankees allowing five hits while striking out four.

Offensively the Twins were lead by Dynan, Stephen Smolinsky, and Nick Benson who each had a hit and run scored. John Ware also had a double for the home team. The Yankees had doubles from Fitzgerald, Owen White, and Matt Ardito. Noah Spencer reached base safely in each of his three plate appearances with walks.

The play of the game was a diving catch, in foul territory, by Yankees catcher, Tyler Rourke, however head's up baserunning by Smolinsky in tagging at third and scoring what turned out to be the winning run for the Twins.

Yankees 8, Indians 2

The Sonny's Mobil Yankees picked up their second win of the season in an 8-2 victory versus the Indians. Willie Stuart pitched 5-plus strong innings (11 strikeouts) for the Yankees and Ryan Santini recorded the final three outs for the victory. James Fisher, Adam LeBlanc, and Tommy Boyajian pitched well for the Indians.

The Yankees scored three runs in the first inning and scored in every inning except for the second, led by a balanced offensive attack. Tyler Rourke, Riley Fitzgerald (double), and Santini each had two hits and Anthony Savage reached base safely in each of his three plate appearances. A.J. Lavigne (2 singles) and Devon McLaughlin had hits for the Indians.

Under 12 Softball

Wilmington Royals-Boston Burger Company 13 North Reading - Dick's Sporting Goods 9

The U12 Royals team opened the season with an exciting game against the North Reading Dick's Sporting Good team.

With strong pitching by Lily Rubin and Audrey Powers and defense behind the plate by catchers Julie Campbell and Chase Anderson, the team was able to maintain a lead for the majority of the game. This was helped by the strong fielding of Emily Freitas, Ashley MacGilvray, and Katy Finnegan.

Combined with the powerful bat of Jordan Quick, Meg Tompkins and Paige Lohrman, victory was assured in this game.

The 11th annual Pan-Mass Challenge Wilmington-Andover Kids Bike Ride will be held on Sunday, May 22, 2016 beginning at the Boutwell School on Carter Lane in Wilmington. Children from preschool through grade 6 can participate in the event which raises money for the Dana Farber Cancer Institute and Jimmy Fund. The Wilmington-Andover Kids Rides have raised $150,000 to help fight cancer. To help us reach our goal of $18,000, please register today at: kids.pmc.org and click on the Wilmington-Andover Ride.
